Greece Clamped Under Military Dictatorship

ROME (AP) — Acting in the name of King Constantine, the Greek army clamped a gunpoint dictatorship on the Balkan nation today and some of the monarch's left-wing opponents were reported jailed.

Reports filtering out through the near-total communications blackout imposed in the lightning midnight move said shots were heard in Athens as tanks and soldiers in full battle kit took control of the deserted streets of the Greek capital.

A royal proclamation read over a Greek army radio station said the king had ordered the army to seize power to protect the country from "internal dangers" pending new elections next month.

The military moved almost like an occupying army. A complete curfew was ordered for all civilians except doctors and pharmacists on emergency cases and soldiers were told to shoot violators.

Civil rights were set aside. A news agency in Turkey said King Constantine had abrogated the law prohibiting death penalties for political reasons.

It was the first dictatorship set up in Greece in 30 years except for the Nazi occupation in World War II.

In Rome unconfirmed reports spread among Greek airline officials that the king's arch foe, former Premier George Papandreu, 80, his American-educated son Andreas, 48, and key followers were jailed.

The Papandreus, leaders of the powerful leftist Center Union party, largest in Parliament, had been engaged in political struggle with the king for 21 months. The Papandreus had been expected to open the parliamentary election campaign Sunday and Greek police feared they would touch off widespread demonstrations against the king.

A source in the Greek Embassy in Rome said the embassy had been advised from Athens that the election of a new Greek Parliament would be held on schedule May 28 despite the military takeover.

"We have been informed," said the source, "that the coup was staged to assure public order and prevent any extremist revolution during the period preceding the election."

He added that the embassy was told the country was completely calm.

Later in the day, however, Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported from Athens that shots had been heard in the Greek capital.

U.S. Air Force headquarters Weisbaden, Germany, said conditions were normal at its base in Athens and the commander there "reported there is no apparent threat to any U.S. military installations or personnel."

Normal communications with Greece were cut and commercial flights in and out of Athens were suspended.

Miss Stalin Is on Way To New York

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana, left Switzerland today by plane for New York, the Swiss government announced.

A brief government communiqué gave no details, but an authoritative source said the daughter of the former Soviet dictator left Zurich aboard Swissair Flight 100, due in New York at 2:30 p.m.

She arrived in Switzerland March 11 from India and has been in hiding here since.

An informant said Svetlana was rushed through Zurich's air terminal without customs control and put aboard the regular Swissair flight. She was in possession of a valid Soviet passport and a temporary U.S. visitors' visa.

Authoritative sources in Washington confirmed that Svetlana was on the way to this country, but would not go further immediately.

The sources would not say whether she had been granted asylum. On March 23 the State Department said it would give "prompt and appropriate consideration" to any application by Miss Stalin to enter the United States.

Miss Stalin has an entry visa but a stay of long duration would be another matter.

LBJ Will Meet With Kiesinger

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Johnson has asked for a special meeting with West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger when he comes to Bonn next week for Konrad Adenauer's funeral, a spokesman said today.

Karl Guenther Von Hase, the government press chief, said Kiesinger welcomed the request. No time has been set for the meeting, he added.

TUB BE OR NOT TUB BE — Two Montagnard boys aren't quite sure they like the idea as U.S. Army Spec/4 Stan Lukaskik of Buffalo, N. Y., gives one of them a bath in a makeshift tub during a visit by an American medical team to a village near An Loc, South Vietnam.

Womenfolk Break Up Rock, Dingess Men Sit and Rock

DINGESS, W.Va. (AP) — The state hasn't done it and the menfolk won't do it, so mothers and grandmothers of Dingess have formed a brigade to fix a neglected road through their town.

The women say they are exasperated at "the laziness of some of our menfolk" and are taking sledgehammers, shovels and wheelbarrows into their own hands.

Almost daily for the past week women ranging from the teens to late sixties have reported for work on the road repair brigade.

"We don't quit till it hurts," one said.

So far, they have broken rock and shoveled dirt and gravel to mend almost one mile of tattered roadway. They say it is one of the most crying needs of this district in southwestern West Virginia.

Asphalt paving on the two-lane road is pocked with deep holes. Cars find it tough going at more than 10 miles per hour in some stretches.

But the work brigade is mainly in protest to the men who, the women say, have refused to fix the road. And it is against the state which also has neglected the route.

The prime target is the state welfare program offering $1 per hour to unemployed fathers to work on public projects. Some 700 men in the area receive such aid.

"You can see them sitting up there on their porches, not doing anything and drawing that welfare pay. It's getting to their morality," one lady worker declared.

Some of the men contend they are at work in other areas, doing other things. They also said the women should stay home and "mind the kitchen."

The road winds along Twelve Pole Creek in a narrow valley, servicing some 400 to 500 families in this area. It was paved in 1963 and the women said it had not been touched again until the brigade was formed.

The women work up to four hours a day with a crew of up to 20. They heft men walking and driving along the road.

The women have divided the crew into teams — some shovel dirt, some fill holes and one or two of the stronger ones wield a 12-pound sledgehammer to crush rock.

The road is smoother where they have been. But there are dozens of miles to go.

Twelve Pole Creek road eventually reaches a better-kept federal two-lane highway in Nauvaktuk, about 30 miles west of here.

"The state said someone would come down here and see how bad it is. But nobody ever came," said one woman.

Nixon in '68 Say Editors

Poll Asks View Not Preference

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sample survey indicates newspaper editors predominantly believe Richard M. Nixon will override a strong challenge from Michigan Gov. George Romney and other potential candidates to win the Republican nomination for president in 1968.

Fifty-one of 103 editors interviewed at random during the 1967 convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors here said they thought Nixon will get the top spot on the GOP ticket next year. The editors were asked who they personally thought would be nominated, not who they preferred.

Romney was endorsed by 33 editors, many of whom cited his early start in the campaign. Two others — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois won top dark-horse ratings with nine votes each. Newly elected California Gov. Ronald Reagan got one endorsement.

The editors also were asked who they thought would head the Democrat ticket next year. They found the answer easy: All 103 named President Johnson, with Hubert H. Humphrey getting strong support to again serve as vice president.

The editors also were asked their opinion of Johnson's handling of the Vietnam problem. The poll indicated strong support for the President although many editors expressed doubt about the administration's ability to communicate the key issues to the people.

Of the 103 editors queried, 79 said they consider themselves generally enthusiastic supporters of Johnson Vietnam policies; 9 called for a step up in the pace of the war; and 15 urged an end to the bombing of North Vietnam and more intensive peace negotiations.

Beer Distributors Go on Strike Today

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 70 beer distributors in Cincinnati and northern Kentucky went on strike today after contract negotiations broke down.

A spokesman said the men, members of Draft Beer Drivers and Distributors, Local 175, are asking for more money. He said their contract with the breweries expired last Saturday.

U.S. Fears Invasion Of South Is Coming

2 Top Dems In Bitter Senate Row

Mansfield, Long Squabble Over Financing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented row between the Senate's two top Democratic leaders left uncertain today the future of a bitterly controversial presidential election campaign financing plan.

At the height of the dispute, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated that he would prefer to resign rather than yield on the point at issue with Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the Democratic whip.

Both men finally said "a failure of communication" appeared to have led to a misunderstanding which resulted in the sharp words.

But veteran senators said they could not recall when there had been such an open break between two top party leaders.

There have been some private disagreements between Mansfield and Long since the Louisiana became the assistant leader in 1965, but nothing like Thursday's public airing.

The dispute broke out after Long had won what seemed an important victory in his protracted battle to save the campaign financing plan enacted into law last year.

This came on a 36-42 Senate vote to adopt a Long-sponsored tax bill rider which would have continued the election financing plan in a slightly revised form.

The vote reversed the Senate's position of a week earlier. Then it had adopted 48 to 42 a rider to repeal the plan.

Long had told newsmen this was to be followed by a Mansfield motion to strip from the bill all extraneous riders adopted during four weeks of floor consideration — including those affecting the campaign financing plan.

Then, he said, the Senate would pass the tax measure without amendment and with a directive to the Finance Committee which Long heads to study all of the extraneous riders and report on them.

But when Mansfield offered his motion, it proposed to leave intact one rider to the bill — a repealer of the campaign financing plan effective July 31.

Long, flushed and clearly unhappy, at once declared he was completely surprised by this and never would agree to it.

Mansfield insisted he still favored the campaign subsidy plan and that he did not intend to repeal it. He pointed out that his motion called for a study of the problem and a report by Long's committee in six weeks.

But Long said that, with repeal, he would be in an impossible position. Any attempt to revive the plan could be "talked to death" in the Senate, he said.

Other backers of the plan said if it were repealed, it never would be re-enacted in the House — where Republicans have many more votes than they did last year. Senate Republicans have raised solid opposition to the proposal.

Landslide Closes Part of Highway

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — One lane of Interstate 71 just north of Ohio's tallest bridge has been closed to traffic because of an ugly landslide that cascaded tons of dirt down the embankment.

J. R. Cook, District 8 deputy director of the Ohio Highway Department, said Thursday the outside southbound lane would be closed indefinitely and another lane also may be closed.

Maintenance crews worked throughout the night to construct median crossovers. One lane of the two-lane southbound traffic is being kept open in the vicinity of the slide.

Cook said he planned to meet with highway officials in Columbus to see what could be done.

Haiphong Plants Heavily Damaged

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fliers today reported "severe damage" to Haiphong's two power plants in their raids Thursday which put out the lights in North Vietnam's major port. Air Force pilots claimed major destruction to trains, railroads and storage dumps in simultaneous attacks 20 to 40 miles from Hanoi.

U.S. military headquarters made no announcement of any plane losses in the raids Thursday but confirmed a Communist report that two American planes were lost over North Vietnam Wednesday. The headquarters said the three fliers in the two planes were missing. Hanoi had said one was captured.

In the forays against the Hanoi-Haiphong complex Thursday Navy fliers from two aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf concentrated on the two Haiphong power plants, flying through intense anti-aircraft and missile fire. The carrier pilots attacked nine anti-aircraft sites and 13 missile sites in the Haiphong area, the Navy reported.

One of the power plants attacked was 1.1 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong and within the city limits. It was the first time in the war that a target inside Haiphong was bombed, but Rear Adm. David C. Richardson on the carrier Kitty Hawk said reconnaissance photos taken after the raid showed "very, very few" homes destroyed.

Pilots reported damaging the boiler house, cooling plant and water treatment plant of the power plant.

The other plant was 2 miles northeast of the center of the city and well within its suburbs, the U.S. command said. This plant furnished power for the city, its industry and port. Pilots said their bombing of this plant left Haiphong in darkness Thursday night. They reported the boiler house destroyed and the generator and transformer buildings damaged.

North Vietnam charged that the raiders repeatedly bombed and strafed targets in the heart of Haiphong. The Communists said the attack was "one of the most dangerous steps of their (American) war escalation."

The North Vietnamese news agency claimed five U.S. planes were shot down and many others damaged. The U.S. Navy said all planes returned safely to their carriers.

Other Air Force pilots claimed destruction of a 60-car freight train 56 miles northeast of Hanoi. The Air Force said a

Hanoi Rejects 26-Mile DMZ U.S. Proposal

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam rejected today a new U.S. proposal to establish a 26-mile demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams, Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency reported.

North Vietnam called the American proposal "a trick aimed at camouflaging the U.S. war escalation" and described it as a "violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam and the statute of the demilitarized zone."

The news agency also asserted the plan was aimed at "setting up a vast no man's land perpetually partitioning Vietnam."

The U.S. proposal called for withdrawal of American and South Vietnamese troops 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone if North Vietnam pulls its forces 10 miles north of the six-mile-wide zone.

The U.S. proposal was based upon a plan announced early this week by Canada's Foreign Minister Paul Martin. It was endorsed by the South Vietnamese government Tuesday.

Allies Voice Concern at 7-Power Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and allied leaders were reported seriously concerned today about the possibility of a direct, large-scale invasion of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese forces concentrated north of the zone dividing the two countries.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told a conference of foreign ministers of the seven nations with troops in South Vietnam that in spite of allied military successes, Communist forces are still full of fight and are displaying aggressiveness particularly in the border provinces.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Di issued this warning: "I cannot exclude in the future the possibility of larger-scale invasion."

U.S. officials say the North Vietnamese have concentrated four divisions of their troops directly north of the demilitarized zone originally created to separate the two countries.

The United States and South Vietnam repeatedly have accused the North Vietnamese of making military thrusts across the zone, particularly in recent weeks. U.S. forces just south of the zone have been reinforced in recent days.

Some authorities here say privately they believe the North Vietnamese soon may launch a major operation in this area. These authorities note that heavy rains are due in the area in a few weeks and the Communists may count on bad weather to hamper U.S. air operations.

The foreign ministers conference opened at the State Department Thursday following a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The SEATO council — with France absent and Pakistan abstaining — issued a communique endorsing the U.S. policy of refusal to stop the bombing of North Vietnam without reciprocal scaling down of the war by the Communist side.

Countries in the seven-nation conference on Vietnam policy are the United States, South Vietnam, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, the Philippines, and Thailand.

Their meeting, which ends today, is closed but an authorized spokesman gave out a summary or text of statements made Thursday.

These develop two principal themes.

The allies have failed to present to the rest of the world a widely convincing case of their reasons for fighting in Vietnam and for conducting the war as they do. Some called for a campaign to appeal for public understanding.

The allied governments should develop better machinery for consulting on and coordinating their peace efforts.

Reuther Agrees To Let UAW Vote On 35-Hour Week

DETROIT (AP) — Although some delegates forecast a strike would be necessary to win major goals already on the table, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, has agreed to let his union vote on adding a 35-hour week to 1967 contract demands.

Some 3,000 delegates attending a goals-setting convention of the 1.4 million-member union will vote on the resolution.

Reuther has pleaded for "flexibility" when he begins bargaining in early July on new agreements with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. He has opposed writing any dollars-and-cents or hours-per-week figures into demands.

But under pressure from dissidents, led by a group of delegates from Cleveland, Ohio, Reuther agreed Thursday to let a 35-hour week proposal come to a vote later.

Student Body, Faculty Joined In Class Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cardinal and an archbishop on Catholic University's board of trustees are backing a young priest-professor whose ouster generated a mass student-faculty strike that has closed the institution.

The Rev. Charles E. Curran, 33, who says he apparently was fired for his liberal views on moral theology and birth control, has received the backing of Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore and the Most Rev. Paul J. Hallinan of Atlanta. The 600-member university faculty and 6,500-member student body almost all stayed away from classrooms Thursday.

The two prelates voiced no endorsement of Father Curran's view as such, but took their stand on the issue of how the matter of his tenure should be decided.

The faculty passed a resolution pledging to stay on strike until Father Curran's contract is renewed. Many students carried signs supporting Father Curran and marched in vigil lines. Others simply milled about the campus in Northwest Washington.

Cardinal Shehan, in Rome attending a plenary session of the secretariat for Christian unity, issued a statement through his Baltimore office saying Father Curran should be "restored to his former status."

Cardinal Shehan said, "The entire matter should be referred

Truck Strike In Chicago Is Resumed

CHICAGO (AP) — Truckers have resumed their strike against eight Chicago area firms as negotiations between trucking associations and Teamsters bogged down in Washington.

Management and labor representatives flew back to Chicago Thursday and the industry's negotiating team scheduled a meeting for Saturday to discuss the situation.

Trucking industry spokesmen in Washington asked Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to seek government intervention to head off a widespread strike.

They said the new strike could halt even the shipment of food and have a paralyzing effect on national commerce. A combination strike-lockout last week in the Chicago area forced a number of industries to shut local plants.

Teamsters Local 705 Thursday stationed pickets outside the truck firms which employ more than 1,700 drivers, and ordered company officials to recall their vehicles. The firms affected are the Willett Transportation Co., Frank Cordray Motor Service Inc. and the Lasham Cartage Co.

Later five suburban firms were forced to stop service.

A union spokesman said the three firms were being shut down because of "their failure to sign a new contract." Management representatives theorized that truckers were "pressuring" the industry.

Akron Rubber Strike Hits 3 of Big 4

More than 50,000 Jobs Affected In Union Walkout

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers Union struck three of the big four rubber companies today as contracts expired at midnight. More than 50,000 union jobs were affected.

It was the first company-wide strike since 1965 when the rubber workers manned picket lines against the U.S. Rubber Co., now Uniroyal.

A union spokesman said it was the biggest since 1959 when the union called walkouts against the same companies struck early today — the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal.

Word of the breakdown in Firestone negotiations came at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday. The Goodrich strike was announced shortly after midnight, and Uniroyal was struck a few minutes later.

Picket lines across the country were manned, according to a URW spokesman, while negotiations continued with Goodrich early today.

The union said Firestone officials were willing to renew negotiations today, but a company spokesman had no comment on the statement.

No talks were planned in the Uniroyal dispute.

Negotiators for about 21,250 workers at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. voted to continue

Extensive Frost Damage Feared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture today expressed fear that Thursday morning's frost may have caused extensive damage to Ohio's fruit and vegetable crops.

Department investigators were canvassing growers in an attempt to find out how serious the damage was. John M. Stackhouse, agriculture director, said it would be several days before full evaluation could be made.

The biggest threat Thursday was to a 500-acre tomato crop in Washington County near Marietta, Stackhouse said.

A big freeze last May damaged millions of dollars worth of the state's fruit and vegetable. Some fruit yields were less than 20 per cent of the normal yields. Replanting and late harvest of much of Ohio's tomato crop resulted.

The U.S. proposal was based upon a plan announced early this week by Canada's Foreign Minister Paul Martin. It was endorsed by the South Vietnamese government Tuesday.

Allies Voice Concern at 7-Power Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and allied leaders were reported seriously concerned today about the possibility of a direct, large-scale invasion of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese forces concentrated north of the zone dividing the two countries.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told a conference of foreign ministers of the seven nations with troops in South Vietnam that in spite of allied military successes, Communist forces are still full of fight and are displaying aggressiveness particularly in the border provinces.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Di issued this warning: "I cannot exclude in the future the possibility of larger-scale invasion."

U.S. officials say the North Vietnamese have concentrated four divisions of their troops directly north of the demilitarized zone originally created to separate the two countries.

The United States and South Vietnam repeatedly have accused the North Vietnamese of making military thrusts across the zone, particularly in recent weeks. U.S. forces just south of the zone have been reinforced in recent days.

Some authorities here say privately they believe the North Vietnamese soon may launch a major operation in this area. These authorities note that heavy rains are due in the area in a few weeks and the Communists may count on bad weather to hamper U.S. air operations.

The foreign ministers conference opened at the State Department Thursday following a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The SEATO council — with France absent and Pakistan abstaining — issued a communique endorsing the U.S. policy of refusal to stop the bombing of North Vietnam without reciprocal scaling down of the war by the Communist side.

Countries in the seven-nation conference on Vietnam policy are the United States, South Vietnam, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, the Philippines, and Thailand.

Their meeting, which ends today, is closed but an authorized spokesman gave out a summary or text of statements made Thursday.

These develop two principal themes.

The allies have failed to present to the rest of the world a widely convincing case of their reasons for fighting in Vietnam and for conducting the war as they do. Some called for a campaign to appeal for public understanding.

The allied governments should develop better machinery for consulting on and coordinating their peace efforts.

Reuther Agrees To Let UAW Vote On 35-Hour Week

DETROIT (AP) — Although some delegates forecast a strike would be necessary to win major goals already on the table, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, has agreed to let his union vote on adding a 35-hour week to 1967 contract demands.

Some 3,000 delegates attending a goals-setting convention of the 1.4 million-member union will vote on the resolution.

Reuther has pleaded for "flexibility" when he begins bargaining in early July on new agreements with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. He has opposed writing any dollars-and-cents or hours-per-week figures into demands.

But under pressure from dissidents, led by a group of delegates from Cleveland, Ohio, Reuther agreed Thursday to let a 35-hour week proposal come to a vote later.

Akron Rubber Strike Hits 3 of Big 4

More than 50,000 Jobs Affected In Union Walkout

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers Union struck three of the big four rubber companies today as contracts expired at midnight. More than 50,000 union jobs were affected.

It was the first company-wide strike since 1965 when the rubber workers manned picket lines against the U.S. Rubber Co., now Uniroyal.

A union spokesman said it was the biggest since 1959 when the union called walkouts against the same companies struck early today — the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal.

Word of the breakdown in Firestone negotiations came at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday. The Goodrich strike was announced shortly after midnight, and Uniroyal was struck a few minutes later.

Picket lines across the country were manned, according to a URW spokesman, while negotiations continued with Goodrich early today.

The union said Firestone officials were willing to renew negotiations today, but a company spokesman had no comment on the statement.

No talks were planned in the Uniroyal dispute.

Negotiators for about 21,250 workers at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. voted to continue

Extensive Frost Damage Feared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Agriculture today expressed fear that Thursday morning's frost may have caused extensive damage to Ohio's fruit and vegetable crops.

Department investigators were canvassing growers in an attempt to find out how serious the damage was. John M. Stackhouse, agriculture director, said it would be several days before full evaluation could be made.

The biggest threat Thursday was to a 500-acre tomato crop in Washington County near Marietta, Stackhouse said.

A big freeze last May damaged millions of dollars worth of the state's fruit and vegetable. Some fruit yields were less than 20 per cent of the normal yields. Replanting and late harvest of much of Ohio's tomato crop resulted.

(Continued from Page 1) work on a day-to-day basis. Sessions were scheduled to resume with Goodyear at 10 a.m. today. The four rubber companies and the General Tire and Rubber Co. agreed, effective April 1, that they would give mutual aid to any one of the five struck by the rubber workers.

General's contract expires May 15. Negotiations got under way Monday in Cleveland. The union continued its joint policy with the rubber industry of not releasing details of negotiations until bargaining is completed.

When negotiations began last month, however, the rubber workers said its goals included a "substantial wage increase," plus increases in skilled trade rate, elimination of "unwarranted wage differential" and a "full employment earnings program."

The earnings program as outlined by the union would boost benefits for laid-off workers to 92 1/2 per cent of regular pay.

The union said the program could be financed by raising the employer's contribution from the present five cents to seven cents an hour per worker.

The supplemental unemployment benefits now pay up to 65 per cent of the laid-off worker's regular pay for 26 weeks, union researchers estimate.

Present wages range from $3.25 to $3.35 an hour for semi-skilled or unskilled labor. A URW spokesman said recent U.S. government reports indicate the tire and tube division employees, considered the highest paid in the industry, make about $3.67 an hour.

Absentee Ballot Deadline Near

Absentee ballots may be cast for the May primary in the office of the Pickaway County Board of Elections in the basement of the Courthouse until the April 27 deadline.

Tomorrow is the last Saturday when the ballots may be cast, the board clerk reminded voters who will be out of the city or county on Election Day May 2.

Business hours for the board of elections office are 9 a. m. to noon Saturday.

Jaycees Elect Tom Elsea as New President

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce held its election of officers Thursday, with Tom Elsea named president for the coming year.

Other officers are: Asa Elsea, first vice president; Terry Barthelmas, second vice president; Robert Scranton, treasurer; Lewis Marcy, secretary.

Dr. Robert Liggett, immediate past president of the Jaycees, automatically becomes a member of the board of directors.

Also elected to the board were Rex Crossley, Jerry Leist, Larry Knisley, Ray Parks and Richard Huggins.

PLANS for the honor ceremonies for William Richards, one of the four outstanding young farmers in the United States, were finalized.

The program will begin with the serving of refreshments at 7 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church. The honors portion of the program is slated to get under way at 7:30.

In Atlanta, Archbishop Hallinan agreed Father Curran should be reinstated.

"I think he is a very competent man and, more important, his academic peers recommended him for a permanent teaching position," said Archbishop Hallinan.

In view of that, it was unwise for the trustees to act in a situation in which faculty members were not heard.

The Most Rev. Thomas A. Connelly, bishop of the Seattle, Wash., diocese and also a trustee, said he did not know all the facts in the case but added: "I could suggest that it be referred to the entire board of trustees. I don't believe that anyone should be dismissed without a hearing."

Cardinal Shehan was the first of the five U.S. cardinals to take a stand on an issue that centers on the priest but also has far-reaching overtones of the academic freedom issue.

All five cardinals are members of the board along with the 22 other U.S. archbishops, 6 bishops and 11 laymen.

Father Curran says he was notified Monday by the university rector, the Most Rev. William J. McDonald, that the board of trustees had refused to renew his contract when it expires Aug. 31.

It was never publicly announced that the full board acted in the case but Father Curran told a news conference Wednesday the rector had informed him the board took the action in Chicago recently.

The Washington Post, quoting "an authoritative source," said only Archbishop Hallinan among about 24 trustees at the Chicago meeting opposed Father Curran's firing. The newspaper said Cardinal Shehan voiced no protest then.

The Post said the Most Rev. John J. Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, earlier sparked a probe of Father Curran and spoke of the priest's "heretical teachings." A special committee set up to investigate Father Curran recommended his dismissal, the newspaper said.

Local Agent Is Honored

Thomas Downing, a local agent for Nationwide Insurance, has been named "man-of-the-month" by his firm's district office in Lancaster.

The District covers Pickaway, Fairfield and Perry Counties. Downing earned the award for exceptional sales and service to clients in Circleville and Pickaway County.

A Nationwide representative since 1966, he is active in Kiwanis, Presbyterian Church and the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn.

He resides at 217 N. Pickaway St. with his wife Edith, two sons Eric and Mark and daughters Kay and Andrea.

Big Brother Knows Best, Navy Thought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has killed a Navy "big brother" directive, it was learned Thursday.

The directive advised civilian employees to seek "wise and mature counsel" before linking up with persons or organizations of a political or civic nature.

A Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee became interested in the directive weeks ago, and raised questions about it.

The document was issued under the Navy's security program and was headed "suggested counsel to employees."

It said: "A number of our citizens unwittingly expose themselves to unfavorable or suspicious appraisal which they can and should avoid."

"This may take the form of an indiscreet remark; an undue selection of friends or associates; membership in an organization whose true objectives are concealed behind a popular and innocuous title; attendance at and participation in the meetings and functions of such organizations even though not an official member; or any of numerous other clever means designed to attract support under false colors or serving to impress an individual with his own importance."

Therefore, the directive said, "it is advisable to study and seek wise and mature counsel prior to association with persons or organizations of any political or civic nature, no matter what their apparent motive may be, in order to determine the true motives and purposes of the organization in question."

The Navy document did not specify to whom the employees should turn for the "wise and mature counsel." Presumably, such counsel was available from the Navy.

The directive said that "the simple principles of good citizenship require that all enthusiasm for well-sounding functions be tempered with the wisdom of full knowledge of the real forces and aims behind them, so that well-meaning citizens will not be unwittingly led into aiding and promoting forces which are contrary to their own basic beliefs."

The Pentagon looked into the need for this directive, at the request of the Senate subcommittee.

When asked what action it was taking, the Pentagon issued this terse statement: "The Department of Defense has taken action to cancel the directive, effective immediately."

Motorist Hurt In Accident

Sally Smith, 18, Route 2, Ashville, was slightly injured 4 p. m. Thursday just south of South Bloomfield on Route 23 when the car she was driving struck a farm tractor in the rear.

The tractor was operated by Irvin C. Allen, 70, Route 1, Carroll. The tractor and the automobile received only slight damage, according to State Patrolmen.

Miss Smith was taken to the Berger Hospital Emergency Room where she was treated and released.

Death Claims W. E. Brinker At Age of 77

Wilbur E. Brinker, 77, a Walnut Twp. native, died Thursday in Grant Hospital Columbus.

Mr. Brinker was born Dec. 6, 1889, the son of Frank and Ida Delong Brinker. He lived in Columbus at the time of his death.

A member of numerous local organizations, Mr. Brinker served in the U. S. Navy in World War I and was a member of the Auxiliary Ohio Highway Patrol during World War II. He was a member of Capital City Barracks No. 461, Veterans of World War I.

He was affiliated with the Hedges Chapel Church for many years and was a member of American Legion Southway Post No. 461 of Columbus.

The Walnut Twp. native was a past chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Ashville, Lodge No. 513, member of the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge and a 50-year member of the Nebraska Grange.

He was a charter member of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau and on the Board of Directors of Ashville Grain Co.

Surviving are his widow, Bertha Brinker, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be 1:30 p. m. Saturday in the Bastian Funeral Home, in Ashville, with the Rev. William Sherertz officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home in Ashville.

Mrs. Brooks Member of OMH Group

Mrs. Fannie Brooks of Jackson Twp. is the Pickaway County representative serving on the 1967 committee of the Ohio Mental Health Assn.

This panel, headed by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, also includes such distinguished Ohioans as Gov. James A. Rhodes, Senator Frank J. Lausche, Director of Mental Hygiene and Correction Martin A. Janis and Ohio Commissioner of Mental Hygiene J. Wylie McGough.

Gov. Rhodes has set May 1-7 as Mental Health Week, according to the official proclamation received by the Ohio Mental Health Assn.

This is the time set aside by volunteer citizens working in the mental health field to "showcase" their programs, carry on fund promotions and recruit new members.

At the same time, it was announced by Mrs. Wells, executive director of the organization, that Ralph W. Sockman, DD, will serve as the honorary chairman for the 1967 Ohio Mental Health Committee, sponsored by the OMHA.

Dr. Sockman who is a nationally known theologian, will appear at a luncheon given by the Ohio Mental Health Assn., May 10 at the Oberlin Community Center in Oberlin.

Child Not Hurt In Car Mishap

Police said no serious injury resulted when an auto driven by Wanda Fyffe, 17, of 405 Ruth Ave., struck Barbara Ellen Alsbaugh, 6, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Alsbaugh of 148 Fairview Ave.

The accident occurred at Watt St. and Lancaster Pike 3:38 p. m. Thursday. The child was taken to Berger Hospital for further examination although she appeared unhurt.

Police say the mishap was caused by a mix-up of signals between the young pedestrian and driver. No citations were issued.

School Officials Attend Westfall Education Forum

An estimated 100 persons attended Thursday evening's Ohio School Boards Assn. education forum at Westfall High School.

A Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee became interested in the directive weeks ago, and raised questions about it.

The document was issued under the Navy's security program and was headed "suggested counsel to employees."

It said: "A number of our citizens unwittingly expose themselves to unfavorable or suspicious appraisal which they can and should avoid."

"This may take the form of an indiscreet remark; an unwise selection of friends or associates; membership in an organization whose true objectives are concealed behind a popular and innocuous title; attendance at and participation in the meetings and functions of such organizations even though not an official member; or any of numerous other clever means designed to attract support under false colors or serving to impress an individual with his own importance."

Therefore, the directive said, "it is advisable to study and seek wise and mature counsel prior to association with persons or organizations of any political or civic nature, no matter what their apparent motive may be, in order to determine the true motives and purposes of the organization in question."

The Navy document did not specify to whom the employees should turn for the "wise and mature counsel." Presumably, such counsel was available from the Navy.

The directive said that "the simple principles of good citizenship require that all enthusiasm for well-sounding functions be tempered with the wisdom of full knowledge of the real forces and aims behind them, so that well-meaning citizens will not be unwittingly led into aiding and promoting forces which are contrary to their own basic beliefs."

The Pentagon looked into the need for this directive, at the request of the Senate subcommittee.

When asked what action it was taking, the Pentagon issued this terse statement: "The Department of Defense has taken action to cancel the directive, effective immediately."

Motorist Hurt In Accident

Sally Smith, 18, Route 2, Ashville, was slightly injured 4 p. m. Thursday just south of South Bloomfield on Route 23 when the car she was driving struck a farm tractor in the rear.

The tractor was operated by Irvin C. Allen, 70, Route 1, Carroll. The tractor and the automobile received only slight damage, according to State Patrolmen.

Miss Smith was taken to the Berger Hospital Emergency Room where she was treated and released.

Car Vandalism Reported

Mrs. Elizabeth Stonerock reported today acts of vandalism concerning two vehicles parked in the drive at her residence, 208 N. Scioto St.

Mrs. Stonerock told city police antennas on her and her son's autos were torn off during the night.

Child Not Hurt In Car Mishap

Police said no serious injury resulted when an auto driven by Wanda Fyffe, 17, of 405 Ruth Ave., struck Barbara Ellen Alsbaugh, 6, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Alsbaugh of 148 Fairview Ave.

The accident occurred at 3:38 p. m. Thursday. The child was taken to Berger Hospital for further examination although she appeared unhurt.

Death Claims W. E. Brinker At Age of 77

Wilbur E. Brinker, 77, a Walnut Twp. native, died Thursday in Grant Hospital Columbus.

Mr. Brinker was born Dec. 6, 1889, the son of Frank and Ida DeLong Brinker. He lived in Columbus at the time of his death.

A member of numerous local organizations, Mr. Brinker served in the U. S. Navy in World War I and was a member of the Auxiliary Ohio Highway Patrol during World War II. He was a member of Capital City Barracks No. 461, Veterans of World War I.

He was affiliated with the Hedges Chapel Church for many years and was a member of American Legion Southway Post No. 461 of Columbus.

The Walnut Twp. native was a past chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Ashville, Lodge No. 513, member of the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge and a 50-year member of the Nebraska Grange.

He was a charter member of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau and on the Board of Directors of Ashville Grain Co.

Surviving are his widow, Bertha Brinker, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be 1:30 p. m. Saturday in the Bastian Funeral Home, in Ashville, with the Rev. William Sherertz officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home in Ashville.

Older People's Living Pattern Being Altered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grandma and grandpa are getting more independent all the time.

There's a marked trend for older Americans to maintain their own homes, the Census Bureau reports.

Take a look at what happened in a 15-year span. The Census people say "about 9.5 million home with persons not related to him. In two-thirds of these households, he head was 55 years old or over."

"The number of households of this type in 1965 was double the number for 1950."

The vast migration from rural areas to cities has had much to do with this trend, in the view of Don Hummel, assistant secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Homes for senior citizens are proliferating the nation over. And HUD has many a role in this trend — from FHA-insured mortgages for luxury cooperatives to subsidizing $30-a-month apartments for the poor.

Federal aid to housing for the elderly falls into several categories, including:

Low-rent public housing.

Direct loans to nonprofit corporations, consumer cooperatives and certain public agencies for housing for elderly persons of moderate incomes.

Mortgage insurance for rental projects designed for the elderly.

Mortgage insurance for nursing homes.

A new program, just beginning, of rent supplements, whereby eligible landlords are paid the difference between the rent tenants can afford, and the going rate.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 730 of Ashville again will sponsor five girls at Buckeye Girls State. This year the event will be held June 17-24 at Capital University in Columbus.

The girls, their alternates and co-sponsors are: Donna Berry, Ashville-Harrison PTA, alternates Sarah Cromley; Stephanie Wilkin, Teays Valley Future Teachers Assn., alternate Judith Guthrie; Nina Moss, Ashville Welfare Club, Debbie Nungesser, alternate; Becky Stout, Ashville Womens' Civic Club, alternate is Sandra Tosca; Candy Huffer, Chatworth Club and American Legion Auxiliary Unit 730, alternate is Dianna McCain. These selected girls and their sponsors were announced this week by Mrs. Robert Bausum, president of the Auxiliary.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance Tuesday moved Fred Bayer from Berger Hospital in Circleville to the Montecore Nursing Home in Grove City.

Mrs. Steve Cook returned to her home last Thursday from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, where she had undergone eye surgery.

A barbecued chicken dinner will be served April 30 at the Ashville Elementary School by the Ashville Band Boosters. Serving times are 11:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. All tickets will be sold in advance with 250 available each serving.

Adult and childrens tickets are being sold by band members. They also may be obtained by calling Martha Wharton, Addie Lockard or Julia Helsner.

The Band Boosters are also sponsoring a dance and a night of fun for all elementary aged children, April 21 in the school auditorium. Youngsters from the surrounding area are invited to attend.

Mrs. Hattie Rife returned to her home Friday after being confined in Mercy Hospital for the past several weeks.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters will meet in the home of Evelyn Morrison April 27. Assisting hostesses will be Winnie Morrison, Virginia Boyer, Jill Roese, Bertha Brinker and Hattie Rife.

Mrs. Mildred Messick entered Grant Hospital, Columbus, Friday for observation and treatment.

Graduating seniors of Teays Valley High School who are members of the Methodist Church or Sunday School will be honored guests Sunday at the church. Members of the WSCS are sponsoring the carry-in dinner which will be served at 5:30 p. m. A special program will be presented following the dinner. All church families are invited to attend and requested to bring a covered dish and table service.

Members of the National Honor Society of Teays Valley High School were guests of the Ashville Kiwanis Club April 15. The meeting was held in the K of P Hall, with the Pythian Sisters serving the dinner.

James Brown, formerly associated with the local school system, was the guest speaker.

Two dates were announced for the members to keep in mind. On April 25 the Club will be hosting an inter-club from Downtown Columbus and April 27 the Division Council meeting will be held at the West Broad St. Holiday Inn in Columbus.

Mrs. Charles Morrison, Mrs.

Chester Fortner, Miss Martha Mary Brinker and Mrs. Stillman Morrison motored to Cincinnati last Friday and attended the Paul Dixon Show.

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple 366 held their annual inspection Tuesday evening in the K of P Hall.

Inspecting officer was District Deputy Garnet Reichelderfer of Circleville. She gave the Temple a grade of excellent.

Other distinguished guests introduced were Agnes Woodward of Mt. Vernon, grand junior; Virginia Sief of Fredericktown, grand secretary; Hazel Thomas, of Amanda, grand protector; and Francile Peters of Ashville, past grand chief.

Frank G. Hudson, grand treasurer of the Knights of Pythias, also was present.

Officers taking part in the initiation of Shirley Rathburn and Shirley Thompson were most excellent chief Arlene Fortner, excellent senior Caroline Pritchard, excellent junior Mary Helen Miller, manager Janet Cline, secretary Fern Lutz, treasurer

Mona Morrison, protector Candy Miller, guard Mary Costlow and past chief Joyce Gloyd. Edith Hudson served as mistress of work for the evening.

Charlotte Rife, Elaine Winter, Francile Peters and Madge Baum. The staff members were attired in white floor length formal.

During the business meeting thank - you notes were read from Hattie Rife and Dorothy Cook and an invitation was extended from Harrisburg Temple to their inspection April 26.

Visitors were from Circleville, Amanda, Harrisburg, Fredericktown and Mt. Vernon.

The next meeting of the Temple will be May 2. Hostesses will be Helen Kuhlwein, Thurey Costlow, Charlotte Rife and Mildred Fullen.

POPPY DAY — Veterans and volunteer workers cooperate in assembling the colorful poppies which will be distributed May 20 in Circleville by members of the Hall-Adkins Post American Legion Auxiliary.

Legion Auxiliary Slates Annual Poppy Day May 20

The Hall - Adkins American Legion Auxiliary has received its shipment of bright red poppies for annual Poppy Day May 20, it has been announced by Mrs. Robert Stephens, program chairman.

Mrs. Stephens announced the local post is holding a Poppy Poster contest in Circleville City Schools this year. Students will compete for a national prize of a $100 Savings Bond in each of three classes.

The first class is for grades four, five and six. The second class is grades seven, eight and nine. The third class is for the three upper high school grades.

Disabled veterans make by hand more than 20 million poppies each year with materials furnished by the American Legion Auxiliary. More than 150,000 auxiliary members and cooperating volunteers participate in distribution of the flowers on Poppy Day.

All funds received are used to assist disabled veterans and the widows and children of servicemen killed in war.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Girl May Have a Real Problem

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow funeral director. My late husband and I have had this business for over 35 years. I have a very nice looking, single embalmer who has been with me for two years. He is engaged to be married to a fine young school teacher.

My problem is a 21-year-old mentally retarded girl who has a crush on my embalmer — in fact, on ALL men. She chases after them, and so far she is lucky she hasn't been taken advantage of.

At funeral hour, which is sacred for the family, this bold girl stands outside the funeral home dressed in stretch pants and a tight sweater (in summer she wears short shorts and a skimpy halter top) and she just stares at my embalmer. My curb men are instructed to tell her to move on, but they can't budge her.

How can I get rid of this boy-crazy girl? She is ruining the dignity of my funerals and embarrassing my embalmer.

NEBRASKAN
DEAR NEBRASKAN: Don't worry about your embalmer — he can take care of himself. I would be more concerned about this poor girl. She needs to be protected and supervised for her own good. Call on her parents and put them wise before something happens to her.

DEAR ABBY: I have been seeing a psychiatrist for several months. I think I know what is at the root of my trouble, but I am too ashamed to tell him.

I have been shoplifting for a long time. Not anything very expensive — just little things. I have never been caught, but I think some of the clerks suspect me by the way they look at me.

I have made up my mind to stop completely, but I am so sick with guilt feelings that I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. If I tell my doctor, do you think he would report me to the police? I will do anything to be cured, but I wouldn't want to shame my family with any publicity. Please, please help me.

ASHAMED
DEAR ASHAMED: Tell your doctor and be assured that your secret will be safe with him.

DEAR ABBY: When I married Mike he knew that I HATED to get up in the morning. I have always worked the 4 p. m. to midnight shift (waitress) and now I can't suddenly change my way of living, even tho I don't work anymore. Well, Mike has to be on his job at 8 a. m., so he expects me to get up at 6:45 a. m. to fix his breakfast. I tried a couple of times, but I spilled the coffee, dropped things and burned myself.

I am just no good in the morning. Mike can't seem to understand this. Abby, it is ruining our marriage. I love Mike very much, but he says I am selfish, that sleeping late is a habit, and I could re-train myself if I really wanted to. If you tell me to try, I will, but I honestly think he is expecting the impossible.

SLEEPYHEAD
DEAR SLEEPYHEAD: Mike is right. If you really wanted to, you could change your sleeping habits. (New mothers do) If you require more sleep, take a nap in the afternoon. It's not easy, but it's not impossible either.

The Smithsonian Institution held its first kite festival on the four Saturdays of March. The event was climaxed with a grand flying of kites over the Mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument.

Life Expectancy Figures Revealed In New Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The life expectancy at birth of the total U.S. population in 1965 was 70.2 years, the same as in 1964, the Public Health Service reported this week.

This measure represents the average number of years at the time of birth that persons may be expected to live.

Based on deaths in 1965, the average was 66.3 years for males and 73.7 years for females.

The service said these figures were almost identical with those for 1964.

The U.S. death rate for 1965 was 943 per 100,000 estimated population, virtually the same as for 1964. The trend of the death rate was fairly level for the 1956-65 period, at an average of 946.

The death rate from cancers of the respiratory system increased by 4.3 per cent in 1965 over 1964 while the rate for hypertensive heart disease was reduced by 5.3 per cent.

"MOST WANTED" — Thomas F. Dorman, whose left arm bears the tattoo "Born to Lose," is newest on the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted" criminals at large. He is charged with kidnapping a motorist following a gun battle with Maryland police while fleeing an armed robbery. He was born May 24, 1931, in Oakland City, Ind., is 5-feet-10½, weighs 170, has brown hair, brown eyes.

YOUR MONEY

By CHET MCKENZIE

How many times have you seen something which was a real bargain, something you badly needed or particularly wanted, only to be forced to say regretfully, "If only we had the money right now!" It's a financial truism that "money begets more money." Savings can lead to additional savings.

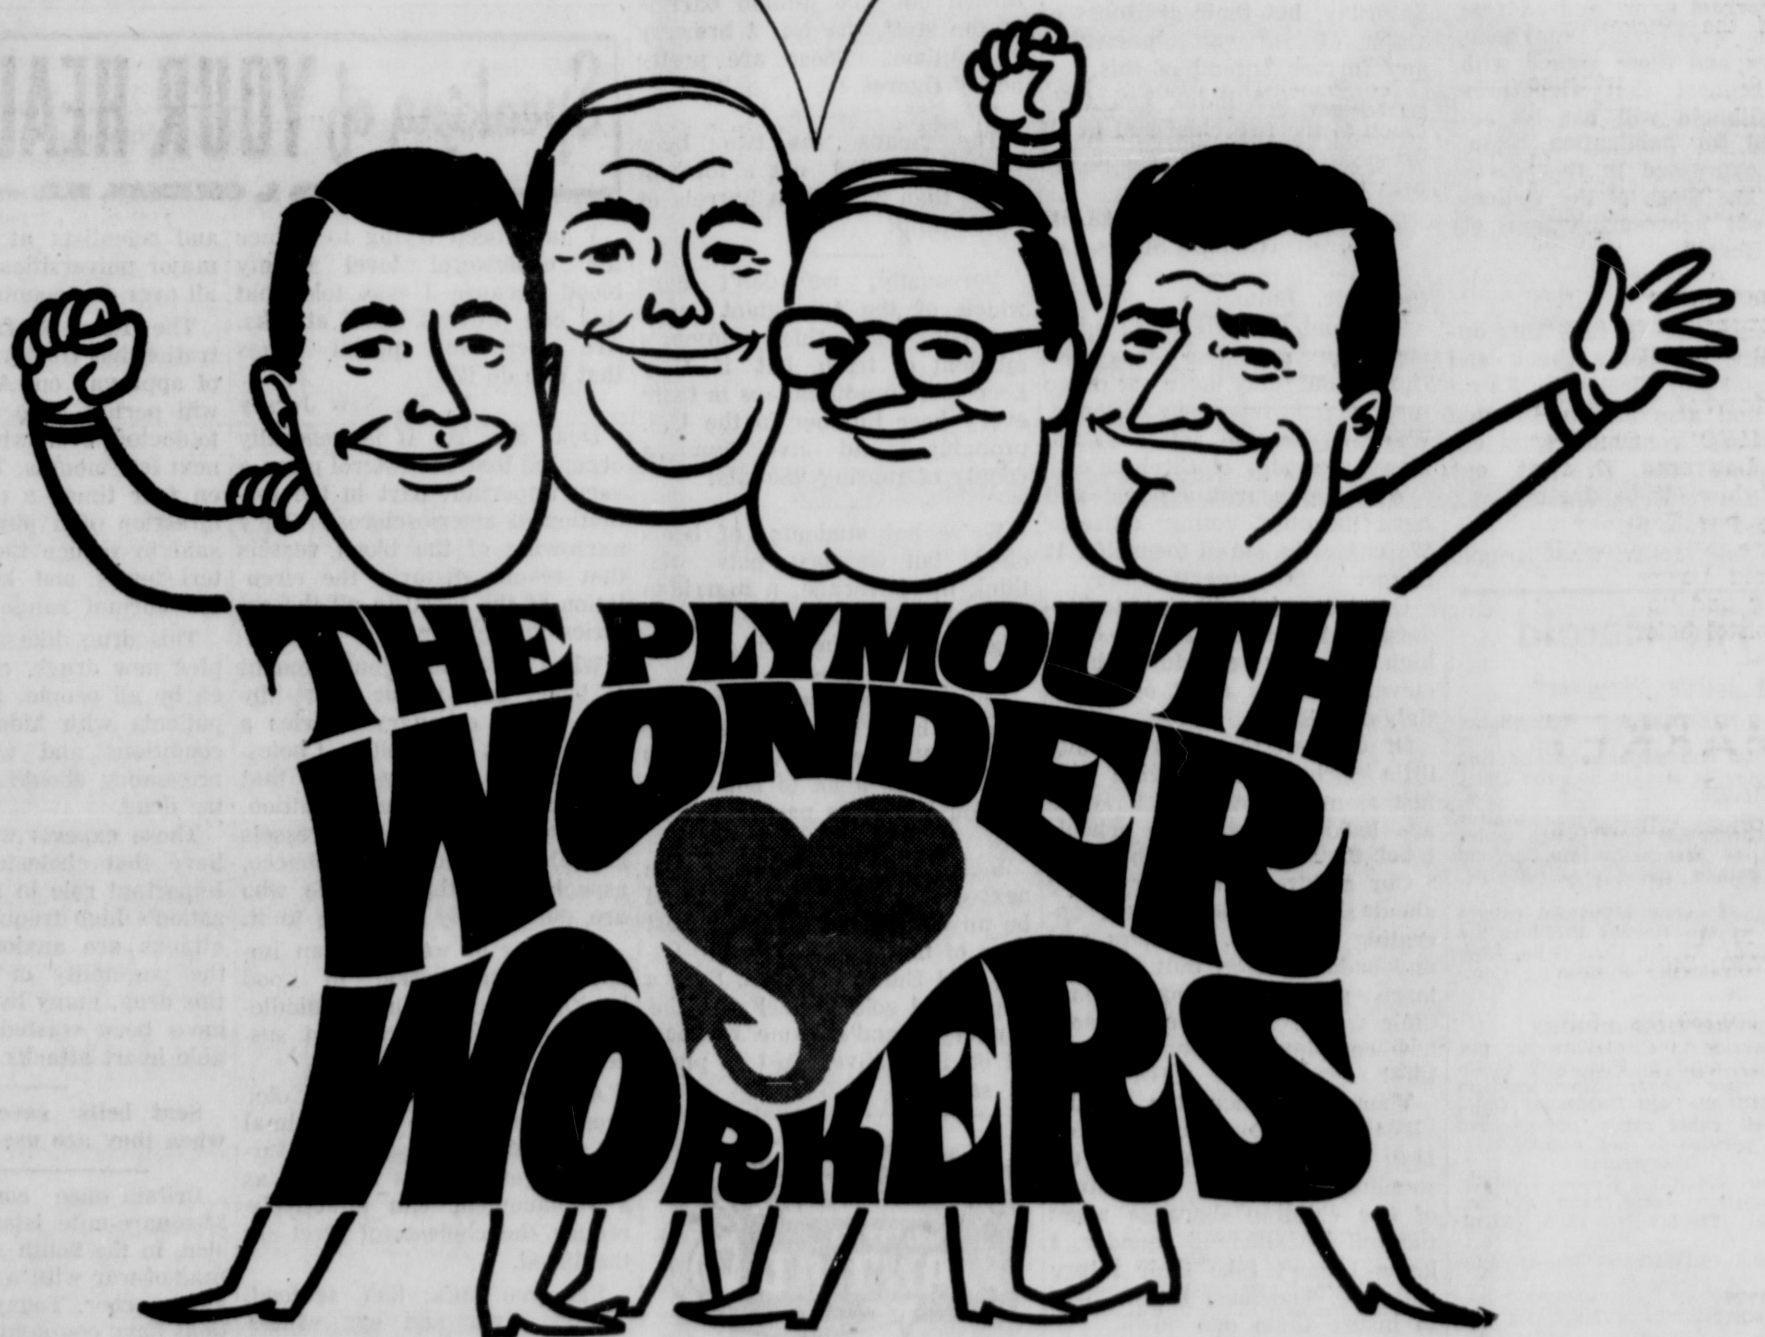

That's one of the special advantages of having a "nest egg" placed with us. It is a fund of readily available savings which you can call on in any emergency, or in those many situations in which you can take advantage of unusual values, whether it might be in the purchase of a new car, furnishings for your home, or another important need.

Start building your "value fund" now. You'll find that it adds up quickly, earns a bonus of high dividends with safety . . . and when you need it, you won't have to sigh, "If only we had the money . . ."

Not Annoyed? You're Dead!

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is a reaction to irritation. If you can't be annoyed, you're dead. This is a scientific fact.

To be alive you have to have a capacity for anger. But what's to be mad about?

Well, if everything is going too well for you, here is a list of things to remember to gripe about the next time you feel it necessary, for sanity's sake, to be indignant:

The smugness of cats.
The indifference of goldfish.
The ingratitude of children.
The things you get back when you send away box tops.
The sour smell of a relighted cigar.
The flavor of anything that isn't caloric.
Other people's morals.

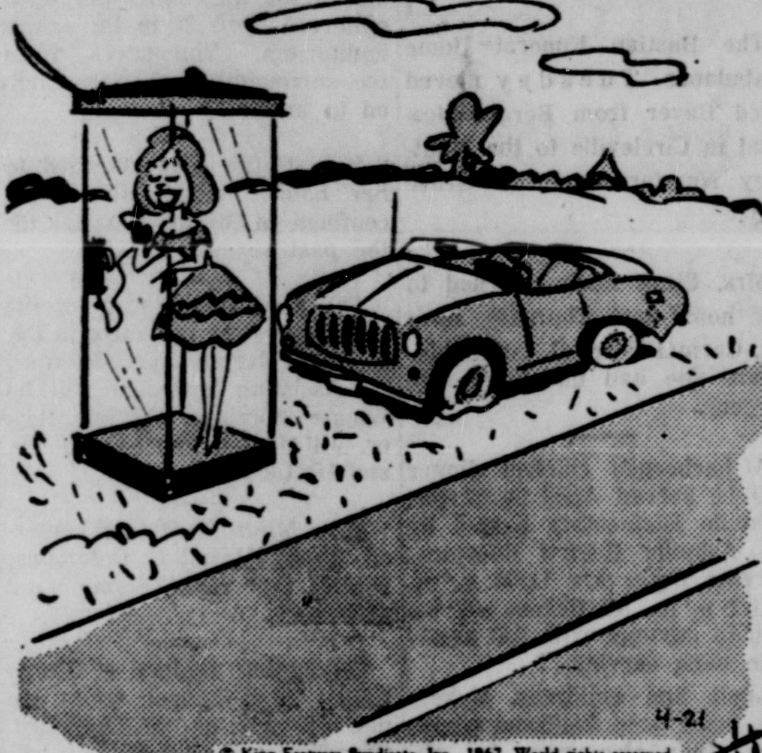

Other people's lack of principle.
The malady known as facing Monday.
The fiveness of Fridays in the average week.
The size of the paycheck.
Having one more chin than is necessary.
Waiting for a girl you're taking to dinner to make up her mind to show her utter sophistication by ordering the most expensive dish on the menu.
Shaking hands with people who have taken two lessons in karate and can't forget it.
Listening to fond parents read aloud the clever letters they have received from their offsprings at summer camp.
Listening to braggarts who have gone on the wagon.
Listening to the remorse of braggarts who have fallen off the wagon.

Getting an ulcer from top management and trying to pass it on to somebody else.
Figuring out how rich you'd be if you'd only been smart enough to but the right stock 20 years ago.
Eating anything that has been cooked in a back yard or had to be thawed before it was put on the stove.
Having to put on the bifocals to see the colors in a rainbow.

The nation's two top breweries, in sales, are expected to put up a hectic battle this summer for the No. 1 spot, a financial journal reports. Well, there's nothing like a good, hot fight in sultry weather, to raise a thirst!

Last year the top brewmaster turned out 13.6 million barrels of the stuff, the No. 2 brewery 9.5 million. Those are pretty heady figures.

The means the two beer barons rolled out a total of more than 23 million barrels of suds. Gulp!

Personally, we don't care which of the two giant suds foundries wins this summer's moment of truth, but if they keep their products tops in taste every beer imbiber in the U.S. probably would give 'em a couple of rousing "Skoals!"

We're not students of beerology, but we have pals who think the beverage, a marriage of barley malt and hops, is the true nectar of the gods.

The succulent suds have an ancient history, too—invented by the Babylonians about 6000 B.C. That's a lot of hops (beg pardon) into the past.

Incidentally, the man at the next desk suggests there should be an annual prize for the best beer of the year — like the Oscar and Emmy Awards. Say, a huge solid gold pretzel with the winning brand's name embossed on it in silver dust in place of salt.

Therefore, when the Circleville School Levy is voted on May 2, I'm going to vote a resounding "yes" for the future of our children, because when the roll is called up yonder, I know I can't take their future with me. The least I can do is to insure them one now.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — More and more state governments are seeking the aid of professional economists to battle the eternal problem of restricted revenue and growing responsibility.

These professionals advise governors, help coordinate policies with the federal government and its 200 grant-in-aid programs, seek new tax sources. Above all, however, they seek to establish a realistic economic policy.

Some states have even set up councils of economic advisers patterned on the federal model, which was established as an agency of the federal government 21 years ago and which is now headed by Gardner Ackley.

This is by no means a sudden infatuation with the economist. It is a practical relationship in the hopes that the economist can make do where others have failed. There is enough evidence, however, to indicate that most states will have such groups in the near future.

One of the most recent to join the list was New Jersey, but groups exist also in Massachusetts, West Virginia and Illinois, and in varying degrees in several other states.

Most, however, have no budgets, which shows where the economy begins.

For years the work of these groups was the hit-or-miss chore of budget commissions, informal conferences, revenue departments, development agencies and state university research teams.

Councils or their equivalent, however, are separate agencies usually staffed by professionals. Ideally they are backed by law, have their own budgets, permanent offices and staff and report directly to the governor.

Their purpose is to define problems and plan their elimination. To do this they confer regularly with other agencies and submit reports through the year. Their analyses are aimed at establishing policy. They do no propaganda or promotional work.

This need for professional advice is underscored by the growing state problem of inadequate revenue and growing expenditures. Many states also feel their taxing rights have been preempted by Washington.

Warren Hearnes, Missouri governor, told a business meeting this week that because of this problem "these United States today face the greatest strain upon its federal system since the civil war."

Meanwhile, the federal government attempts to return $15 billion a year in income tax revenues to the states through more programs than most state officials can name. Goals aren't always clear, and many states pay out far more in federal taxes than they receive in grants.

The pattern for these councils goes back to the employment act of 1946, which established a Council of Economic Advisers, reporting to the President, with the goal of analyzing and promoting maximum employment, production, purchasing power.

Since then the role of the economist in both public and private policy has grown, although the states were not quick to pick up the idea.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LINDA L. GOLDBERG, M.D.

I have been trying to reduce the cholesterol level in my blood because I was told that this can prevent heart attacks. Are there any special drugs that can do it?

F. T., New Jersey
Dear Mr. T.: It is generally accepted that cholesterol plays a very important part in the formation of arteriosclerosis. The narrowing of the blood vessels that results disturbs the circulation of the blood in all the arteries in the body.

When an insufficient amount of blood goes to the heart by way of the coronary arteries a heart attack may follow. Cholesterol is not the only factor that produces this serious condition. Narrowing of the blood vessels can also be caused by tobacco, especially in those people who are particularly sensitive to it.

The loss of weight is an important contribution to good health, especially in the middle-aged group who are most susceptible to heart attacks.

A good anti-cholesterol diet must contain little or no animal or saturated fats. Polyunsaturated vegetable fats and oils as a replacement can effectively reduce the cholesterol level in the blood.

Fat free milk, fish, seafood, poultry, liver and egg whites are relatively low in saturated fats. Corn oil, safflower and soybean oil are excellent sources of polyunsaturated fats.

Scientists have been working to find a drug which will reduce high levels of cholesterol in the blood stream. Numerous drugs have been tried with only moderate success. Some of them have proven successful but, unfortunately, carried with their use some serious side-effects.

Many of these drugs were immediately taken off the market by the Food & Drug Administration of the United States government. This agency probably plays the greatest single role in the protection of the American people from drugs that have not yet been proved completely safe.

A new drug is now being greeted with tremendous enthusiasm by doctors everywhere because of its ability to dramatically reduce high blood levels of cholesterol. The drug, Atromid-S, seems to be the very first anti-cholesterol drug that does not have the serious side-effects of the others.

The drug has been used in more than 3,000 cases under the strict supervision of physicians.

South American Way

We have had our eyes focussed on the "summit" of the American presidents at Punta del Este in Uruguay, and, because of this, we have been treated to an extra-heavy display of the conventional wisdom about the needs and conditions of Latin America. We have heard from the Left about "oligarchs," and we have had the fear of "Castroism" dimmed into us by the Right. A guerrilla camp has been uncovered in Bolivia, complete with a picture of Che Guevara, who sank out of sight some time ago in Cuba. Meanwhile, the pundits have bemoaned that a common market for Latin America is all very well but that it cannot possibly be sufficient to alleviate the poverty or control the population boom in time to save the Latino.

Somehow, though I know there are "oligarchs" (i.e., landed aristocrats) and Castroite guerrillas in parts of Latin America, I can't take the conventional wisdom seriously. The twin menaces of the hard-hearted aristocrat and the Castroite guerrilla presuppose a feudal economy. Thinking in these terms, the Maoists — and Fidel Castro and Che Guevara as Maoist disciples — have painted a picture of a coming hill-and-jungle-born revolution, with guerrillas ultimately marching out of the Andes and the rain forests to seize power in the capitals. But South America, as distinct from Central America and some of the Caribbean islands, ceased long ago to be a preserve of feudal aristocrats and sullen serfs. The trend has been toward heavy urbanization, with the population being heaped up in a few huge metropolitan regions.

In the very Uruguay that has been entertaining Lyndon Johnson more than half the population lives in Montevideo. Uruguay is an advanced Welfare State, suffering from the inflation that seems to be the ineradicable accompaniment of monomaniacal concentration on social security. Across the estuary of the Rio de la Plata, in Argentina, a population that used to run to gauchos has been jamming up in Buenos Aires. Peron's "shirtless ones" were city fellows, not rural devotees of Mao Tse-tung's "Yenan way." Across the Andes, in Chile, people hole up in the Valparaiso-Santiago region. Brazil consists of the empty Amazon basin, a sparsely settled backcountry, and some whopping big cities in Sao Paulo and Rio. Venezuela is mostly Caracas, and Colombia is at least half-urbanized.

If Communism has any chance of taking over in South America it will be an urban, proletarian Communism, not a Castroite eruption from the Cordilleras. But if history tells us anything, we don't get Communism from a city-bred working class, as Karl Marx mistakenly thought. What we do get in urbanized areas is either a smooth development of a middle class which makes jobs and provides Welfareism for everybody in the course of enriching itself, or some variety of Fascist organization under a strong man with the army and the unions and the declassé intellectuals behind him.

In short, the menace is Peronism or Goulartism or something of that nature. Can this be avoided? Oddly, the future of Latin America would seem to rest at least partly on a reconstitution of rural life. David Rockefeller, whose Chase Manhattan Bank is deeply involved in Latin developments, is my authority for saying that "some 85 million acres of virgin land must be brought under cultivation in Latin America within the next fourteen years if food production is to keep pace with the world's fastest rate of population increase." To restore farming as a way of life in Latin America does not require dispossessing an unwilling feudal aristocracy. The South American continent, outside the big cities, is mostly empty. To cite some Chase Bank figures, Latin America has only twenty-nine people to the square mile as compared with East Asia's 185 persons and Europe's 231 persons per square mile. True, only one-quarter of Latin America's land area is arable, but only five per cent is now under cultivation.

Latin America hasn't bogged down in development, for the growth of its cities has resulted in an average increase of the gross annual product of five per cent a year for fifteen years. The Latin troubles — slums, shortages of hospitals and schools — are a reflex of growth for the rural population dazzled by the burgeoning metropolises, moves into shantytown suburbs at a rate too fast for absorption. The problem is how to make rural life attractive, or at least fecund enough to feed the cities at a profit.

The pill is taken four times a day under the direction of a physician and is said to reduce the blood cholesterol levels and keep it within the normal range.

This drug, like all other complex new drugs, cannot be taken by all people. It is said that patients with kidney and liver conditions and women during pregnancy should not be given the drug.

Those experts who firmly believe that cholesterol plays an important role in modern civilization's high frequency of heart attacks are anxiously awaiting the possibility of saving, with this drug, many lives that might have been wasted by preventable heart attacks.

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to openly thank and commend the Circleville Fire Chief and also all the firemen who were connected with extinguishing the fire at our store, King's Department Store, 140 West Main St.

Not only from what people told me, but what I observed myself, the complete fire department not only extinguished the blaze that was started last Saturday, but their swiftness of action, I am sure, prevented any further spread of this.

Again I say thank you very much to the fire chief and to all firemen who were connected with this effort.

HERMAN GELLER
Geller's Stores Co.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Two and one-half years ago I moved my family to Circleville. During our stay here we have met many fine new friends. We have become active in the many activities of Circleville.

We have bought a home and have become voting citizens. We enjoy the small town life. It is sort of the American way.

Our little girl will start to kindergarten next year. She is clever and has a lot of potential.

Of course, there are many little girls in Circleville with just as much potential. They all are looking forward to school. I bet their mother's are, too!

Our children know very little about school levies, school operating expenses, teachers pay and budgets. They only want to learn and know more about their world. If they only knew how complex this world is getting!

Therefore, when the Circleville School Levy is voted on May 2, I'm going to vote a resounding "yes" for the future of our children, because when the roll is called up younger, I know I can't take their future with me. The least I can do is to insure them one now.

Congressional Suspicions Bolster Campaign Law Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shadow of suspicion that President Johnson might be tempted to try to purge some of his congressional critics in 1968 apparently is bolstering efforts to repeal the presidential election campaign financing law.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., trying to reverse the Senate's 48-42 vote for repeal a week ago, has come up with revisions of the act which permits citizens to check off $1 of their income taxes to be divided between the major parties.

The repealer was added to a tax bill which has been before the Senate nearly three weeks and must go back to the House — which hasn't voted on the campaign finance issue — before it can become law.

One of Long's new proposals would turn over control of the $30 million that could be raised for each party to the presidential nominee or to his agent instead of to the party organization.

Since Johnson can have the 1968 Democratic nomination for the asking, some opponents say privately the President would have the promise of funds, available after Sept. 1, 1968, with which to influence the earlier nomination of senatorial candidates.

Some critics of Johnson's Vietnam policies fear the President might try, as Franklin D. Roosevelt did in 1938, to purge dissenters in party primaries.

Roosevelt didn't have much luck. But he didn't have the prospect of a $30-million campaign fund to help him oust his critics.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who managed his brother's presidential campaign in 1960, already has outlined to the Senate — without specifically mentioning the possibility of a presidential purge — how it could be done.

Kennedy told his colleagues that by promising to name a favored senatorial candidate as director of presidential campaign expenditures of up to $5 million in his state, a prospective presidential nominee could "completely undermine the local organization" and dictate the nomination of the candidate.

Kennedy agreed with Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., author of the repealer, that it was "extremely possible" that promises of future reimbursements could be used to defeat a senator who was "uncooperative."

Kennedy said a senator seeking renomination who was left out of the presidential campaign organization established in his state would be "in serious trouble."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his GOP colleagues, who voted solidly for repeal, are not weakening. Gore said he had the promise of at least one Democratic switch for repeal.

The Senate added still another extraneous amendment to the tax bill Wednesday — this one a proposal to roll back meat import quotas from some 900 million to 600 million pounds a year.

By a 55-19 vote, the amendment was tacked onto the tax measure — an administration bid to restore business tax incentives suspended last October.

Richard Speck's Paintings Show His Detachment

CHICAGO (AP) — The paintings of Richard Speck, created on death row with tips from a convicted bank robber, received their first public display amid a burst of comment from art critics and psychiatrists.

At the same time another psychiatrist, who interviewed Speck two dozen times before Speck went on trial for the murder of eight nurses, was fired from his position at Cook County Jail.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Marvin C. Ziporyn, said he had acted "within the ethics of my profession" in commenting on published excerpts of his reports on Speck.

He also announced he was preparing a book based on the interviews.

"Nobody is going to be interviewing prisoners in such a manner as to make a profit from it," said Sheriff Joseph I. Woods of Cook County who fired Ziporyn.

The paintings, published Wednesday in Chicago newspapers, range from idyllic pastoral scenes to a sketch of a rearing white horse poised to stamp on a coiled rattlesnake. They were completed before and during the trial in which Speck, 25, was convicted of the murders with the recommendation of death in the electric chair.

Speck began to paint at Ziporyn's suggestion shortly after his arrest last summer.

The paintings, which Speck gives away, are of dubious value to art critics. Psychiatrists, however, found them fascinating. And eventually they may, because of their novelty, provide a sizeable income for Speck.

Dr. Mischa Zaks, assistant professor of psychology at Northwestern University, said the paintings are remarkable for their cheerfulness and calm detachment.

In analyzing a scene of Walt Disney's fawn, Bambi, staring at a rabbit, Zaks commented: "Here he is painting beautiful, peaceful pictures. It shows some sort of dissociation from the on-going situation (the murder trial)."

"To be able to detach yourself from a life situation where you are fighting for your life, and where life and death are being judged, is indicative of a real split of emotions from reality."

"Maybe that is a clue."

Legislature Report

H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative
21st District

House action has slowed to a walk, even slower than the previous week.

The reason is the Ohio Bond Commission. Action on Tuesday by the Ohio Supreme Court said that the Ohio Bond Commission plan was properly enacted and the question will be on the May 2 ballot.

The Supreme Court's decision to put the Ohio Bond Commission on the ballot was settled by a 4-3 vote. It is apparent by the close vote there is certainly much doubt as to the legality of this proposition; and the dissent was led by ex-Republican governor, Judge C. William O'Neill.

Ohioans now will be asked to vote on a far reaching revision of the Ohio Constitution which would transfer control over state borrowing from the voters to the Ohio Bond Commission. The constitutional debt limitation now requires a vote of the electorate to incur state debt beyond $750,000.

Present state debt is $617 million, and voter approved borrowing power for state improvements ad highways still unused is $625 million. Simply stated, the public is being asked to (1) make a change in the way state debt can be created by transferring this power from the voters to the Ohio Bond Commission, and (2) create an Ohio Commission, with broad functions as the state's planning, financing and administering agency for all types of state and state-assisted local capital improvements.

The Ohio Bond Commission is not just another bill but its great importance is that it authorizes a fundamental change in the Ohio Constitution. Former Governor O'Neill and now judge says in his dissenting opinion: "It does not seem reasonable that a citizen should be asked to vote on a proposal containing four such sweeping, diverse, and unrelated proposals. This can only lead to the corrupting of the Constitutional Amending process and to the undermining of constitutional government. It will permit the kind of log rolling which is occasionally practiced in legislative bodies."

It is certain that this action of the Ohio Supreme Court also means that the reapportionment Amendment SJR No. 12 will also remain on the ballot. This will be issue No. 2 on the ballot and if passed will make permanent the method by which members of the Ohio Legislature are elected.

Heavy committee work is going on in all of the Major house committees and a backlog of bills is being assigned to the rules committee.

The House of Representatives passed a house resolution on Thursday congratulating William Richards on his selection as one of America's outstanding farmers. The resolution was offered by Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker and Rep. Herman Ankeney who is chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Great Lakes Basin Commission Created

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Great Lakes Basin Commission, a water resource planning agency requested by several governors, was created Thursday by President Johnson's executive order.

Establishment of the commission under the Water Resources Planning Act was requested by the governors of Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin. Former Rep. Raymond Clevenger, D-Mich., was named commission chairman by the President.

Spec-4 John Boggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Boggs, who was with the 2nd Battalion of the Airborne Brigade in Vietnam for the past year, arrived home on April 13. On Friday of this week he expects to go to New York to see his sister, Miss Betsy Boggs, a public health nurse. Later he will report for duty at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Mrs. M. H. Buchwalter, who has been in Doctors Hospital West for observation and tests for a week, has been returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis visited Sunday afternoon with the Rev. and Mrs. James K. Boor and family at their home in Bremen. Rev. Boor was a former pastor at the Methodist Church here.

Relatives of Mrs. John Davis were here to visit Mr. and Mrs. Davis and other relatives on Sunday. They were her sister, Mrs. Sylvester Wilson her son, Lowell, and grandson, Ricky of Marysville. They also called on another sister, Mrs. Jessie Creachbaum, in Chillicothe and a nephew, Herman Creachbaum, in Chillicothe Hospital. Mr. Creachbaum died of a heart condition the following Wednesday.

The Junior High School Spring Concert will be presented April 21 under the direction of Mrs. Brisker and will include both band and chorus at the Zane Trace Junior High School Building. The Elementary Spring Concert will be April 28. Both events will begin at 8 p. m.

Mrs. W. W. King opened the meeting of the Ne Plus Ultra Class with a poem "How Do I Know My God?" followed by prayer.

The meeting was held Wednesday evening in the social room of the Methodist Church. Devotions were given by Mrs. Wava Norman who read the 13th chapter of Corinthians. She also used the "Life Story of Peter" from the Readers Digest.

Mrs. Wallace Evans of Chillicothe was a guest. She was a former president of the class.

A report was given of the bake sale which was held Saturday. The day for making cancer pads was changed and will be on Wednesday of next week. The ladies are asked to come at 9 a. m. or any time convenient to them.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the class creed. Refreshments were served at a table adorned with garden flowers. The committee was Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Wava Norman and Mrs. William Raub.

Kingston Hospital Guild No. 13 met at the home of Mrs. Onley Parsons for the April meeting. Two new members accepted were Mrs. Betty Imler and Mrs. Paul Ankrom.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Lucille Senff, who spoke on "Interior Decorating."

The remainder of the evening was spent in wrapping door prizes for the association's annual dinner meeting May 9 in Chillicothe. The May meeting of Guild No. 13 will be held at the L-K Restaurant near Circleville.

Mrs. Grace Leasure, who has been in Columbus for several weeks with her daughter, has returned to her home here.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Kingston American Legion Post 291 observed its 23rd anniversary with a carry-in dinner before the meeting Tuesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Paul Priest, conducted the meeting. The auxiliary plans to send a gift to Bob Arnold in Ireland Army Hospital at Ft. Knox, Ky., where he is recuperating from wounds received in Vietnam. He was in a hospital in Japan for several weeks before being sent to Ft. Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis and children Jim and Kristi, are planning to leave Thursday for Washington D. C. to visit friends. They will return the first of next week.

Mrs. Wava Norman received word Saturday of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Morris, in Elkhart, Ind. Mrs. Morris had many friends here where she had visited several times.

Mrs. James Stewart and Mrs. Dorothy Shoemaker were in Columbus Wednesday evening to help Mrs. Stewart's brother, Mr. Dennis Root, celebrate his birthday.

Mrs. Claude Reynolds of Kingston and Mrs. Herbert Pfaltzgraph of Columbus left Saturday by plane for Mesquite, Tex., to visit Mrs. Reynolds' son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds, who was employed at the Reformatory at Chillicothe, was transferred to Texas when the local institution was closed.

Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Reed of Harbor Hills came Thursday and stayed until Sunday afternoon at their home here and with Mrs. Reed's sister, Miss Ora Rittenour.

The Loring Hills have received word of the birth of a grandson in San Diego, Calif., on April 9. He has been named Jonathan Lee. He weighed 6 pounds 8 ounces.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gay (Sue H. Hill) and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hill, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Gay, Route 4, Chillicothe.

This is the second child for the Gays. The first is a daughter, Susan Downs. Mr. Gay is a junior high school teacher in La Jolla, Calif.

Mrs. L. E. Hill and daughter Teresa and mother, Mrs. Olive Hoffman, spent the day Sunday in Wooster with Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Giffin and Alice Lou Hill. Mrs. Giffin is a dietitian at the Apple Creek Mental Hospital there.

Agency Will Move To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Center for Urban and Industrial Health, a federal agency employing about 200 persons, will start moving here from Washington, D.C. July 1, U.S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart announced.

The center, a new branch of the Public Health Service, will study accidents, occupational diseases, water supplies, housing, waste disposal, food protection, sanitation and similar matters. About 400 persons work on similar projects associated with the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center here.

Kroger Stores Sold

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Kroger Co. grocery chain has sold nine of its supermarkets in suburban counties around Washington, D.C., to a cooperative, Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., which now has 22 stores around the capital.

Surveyor's Electronic Equipment Appears OK

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 extended a shaky, tubular arm today but did not attempt to scratch the moon's pitted hide.

Trenching of the lunar soil may come sometime after 7 p.m. EST today when Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists resume remote control operation of the three-legged spacecraft's scoop.

The scissor-type extension arm with a two-by-five-inch shovel on the end began reaching out from the craft at 4:56 a.m. EST on two-second steps, a few inches at a time. The spacecraft's camera, mounted just above the arm, photographed each jerky movement and televised a series of pictures.

The arm was left extended about 30 inches a couple of feet above the moon's surface as controllers halted the operation shortly before 6 a.m. EST when the earth's rotation carried the tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., out of view of the moon. The operations will be resumed as the moon rises over Goldstone tonight.

One of the first movements tonight may be to drop the shovel onto the surface, testing the bearing strength for future manned landings. Scientists also hope Surveyor will dig a trench and for the first time photograph the soil beneath the surface.

Scientists said Surveyor's arm movements quelled earlier fears that the soil-sampler's electronic equipment had been damaged shortly after the craft touched down Wednesday night in a 20-foot-deep crater of the moon's dry Ocean of Storms.

As the lunar sunrise continued, glare from the spacecraft that had marred early photographs became negligible. A spokesman said photographs radioed back were "as sharp as any from the prolific Surveyor 1 last June."

The photos show a boulder-strewn landscape, pocked by craters at 10 to 50 yards from the spacecraft.

In its picture-taking, Surveyor 3 occasionally used a red, green or orange filter. The photos are received in black and white, but experts can reconstitute the filter effects, combine them and obtain color pictures.

Pictures transmitted soon after the lunar landing were indistinct due to sun glare. By Thursday afternoon, however, the sun was at a more advantageous angle.

In its first 32 hours on the moon, the spacecraft transmitted approximately 1,260 photos.

It was disclosed Thursday that Surveyor 3's landing was marked by two apparently harmless, slow motion bounces.

Officials said this happened when small guidance-breaking rockets on Surveyor's three legs failed to shut off on schedule. They were to slow the spacecraft to 3 miles per hour for a free-fall the last 14 feet.

As it happened, the craft virtually floated down. It hit the surface gently, bounced 35 feet, settled softly again 20 feet away, bounced 11 feet, then came to rest 8 feet away.

Coppolino Murder Trial Experts in Disagreement

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — The "battle of the experts," as defense attorney F. Lee Bailey put it, has begun in earnest in the murder trial of Dr. Carl Coppolino.

Bailey put his first expert medical witness on the stand Thursday to testify that the doctor's wife, Carmela, did not die of an injection of succinylcholine.

Prosecution experts, in six days of testifying, backed up the state's charge that Coppolino murdered his wife with a lethal injection of the paralyzing drug on Aug. 28, 1965.

Prosecutors claim the 34-year-old anesthesiologist was in financial trouble and wanted to collect $65,000 life insurance on Carmela and marry a rich divorcee, Mary Gibson.

The first defense witness, research biochemist Dr. John C. Smith, said he injected live rats with lethal doses of radioactive succinylcholine, then traced and measured it.

He said he made chemical tests on tissue taken from the track of a needle puncture on the dead woman's exhumed body and concluded "the level of choline was not consistent with a lethal injection of succinylcholine."

State and defense experts agreed that succinylcholine rapidly breaks down in the body to form succinic acid and choline. Largely because of this, the drug has been considered undetectable after death.

Dr. Charles J. Umberger, chief toxicologist for the New York City medical examiner, testified last week that he found enough succinic acid in Carmela's brain to conclude that she died of "a toxic overdose" of the drug.

Asst. State Atty. William Strode asked Smith if he had ever extracted succinic acid from the body of a human or a rat. "No," said Smith.

"Then," Strode continued, "you just disagree with Dr. Umberger on principle?"

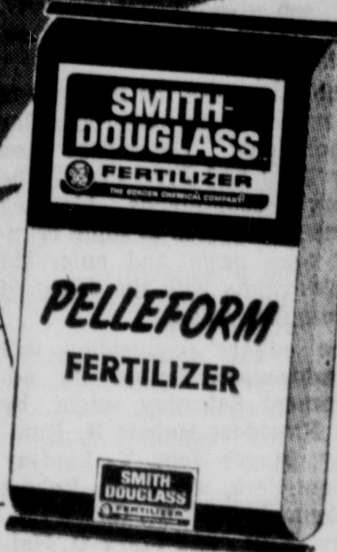

"Yes," Smith replied. Strode asked Judge Lynn Silverthorn to strike all of Smith's testimony from the record. The judge said he would accept "for its value" and rule on admissibility later.

Coppolino returned to the courtroom in apparent good shape after complaining of illness prior to the morning recess.

Legislature Report

H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative
1st District

House action has slowed to a walk, even slower than the previous week.

The reason is the Ohio Bond Commission. Action on Tuesday by the Ohio Supreme Court said that the Ohio Bond Commission plan was properly enacted and the question will be on the May 2 ballot.

The Supreme Court's decision to put the Ohio Bond Commission on the ballot was settled by a 4-3 vote. It is apparent by the close vote there is certainly much doubt as to the legality of this proposition; and the dissent was led by ex-Republican governor, Judge C. William O'Neill.

Ohioans now will be asked to vote on a far reaching revision of the Ohio Constitution which would transfer control over state borrowing from the voters to the Ohio Bond Commission. The constitutional debt limitation now requires a vote of the electorate to incur state debt beyond $750,000.

Present state debt is $617 million, and voter approved borrowing power for state improvements at highways still unused is $625 million. Simply stated, the public is being asked to (1) make a change in the way state debt can be created by transferring this power from the voters to the Ohio Bond Commission, and (2) create an Ohio Commission, with broad functions as the state's planning, financing and administering agency for all types of state and state-assisted local capital improvements.

The Ohio Bond Commission is not just another bill but its great importance is that it authorizes a fundamental change in the Ohio Constitution. Former Governor O'Neill and now judge says in his dissenting opinion: "It does not seem reasonable that a citizen should be asked to vote on a proposal containing four such sweeping, diverse, and unrelated proposals. This can only lead to the corrupting of the Constitutional Amendment process and to the undermining of constitutional government. It will permit the kind of log rolling which is occasionally practiced in legislative bodies."

It is certain that this action of the Ohio Supreme Court also means that the reapportionment Amendment SJR No. 12 will also remain on the ballot. This will be issue No. 2 on the ballot and if passed will make permanent the method by which members of the Ohio Legislature are elected.

Editors Told Last Year Bad For Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cause of freedom of information lost ground in the past year, a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors reported Thursday.

An advance was made on "the traditional battlefront against bureaucrats," said ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee, but the gain was more than offset by losses in free press-fair trial controversy.

The setbacks, described in a report addressed to the more than 500 newspaper editors opening ASNE's annual meeting today, were summarized in these terms by the committee headed by J. Edward Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, Phoenix:

"These (losses) resulted from actions by the Supreme Court and the American Bar Association which, intentionally or not, scared a lot of policemen, prosecutors, defense counsel and especially judges into suppressing legitimate news of the criminal process."

One of the major developments, said the committee, was the Supreme Court's ruling that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had been denied a fair trial because of prejudicial pretrial publicity. In a retrial, Sheppard won acquittal.

The other was the issuance of the report of the American Bar Association's Committee on Fair Trial and Free Press. The report recommends blocking newspaper access to some criminal case news and enforcing the restraints with the threat of contempt of court.

The editors' convention will be addressed, before its adjournment Saturday night, by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, and Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Murray's committee offered these further comments on the past year's contacts between press and government:

"President Johnson continues to hurt his image and his credibility by consistently trying to make the news sound or seem better than it is."

"The war has escalated to the accompaniment of an almost unbroken succession of pronouncements that it was going in the opposite direction, or at least that something else was happening."

"Press relations (with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency) were generally satisfactory until the Jan. 27 Apollo tragedy in which three astronauts lost their lives."

NASA's information channels were not equal to the Apollo emergency, the report said. No official word came until 1 hour and 20 minutes after the fire started, and "Although the agency knew within five minutes, it took two hours to learn that all three astronauts were dead."

"NASA information not only was late and sparse, but some of it was deliberately misleading, some of it inaccurate."

"NASA said all three astronauts died in their couches, that all three apparently died instantaneously, and that there had been no communication at the time from the spacecraft — all false."

The "tribulation" foretold in Matthew 24 verse 29, as a sign preceding Christ's return means especially, Baha'u'llah states, "want of capacity to acquire spiritual knowledge and apprehend the Word of God." Christ will come in a period of irreligion and unbelief, when the very teachers of spiritual truth have lost the true understanding of spiritual things and are blind leaders of the blind. What kind of oppression is more grievous than that a soul seeking the truth and wishing to attain unto the knowledge of God should know not where to for it and from whom to seek it? The unbelief, the hatred, the hardness of heart, the injustice the iniquity which prevail at the present time, the strife, the wars, the load of insecurity and fear which burden all hearts—all these things are a fulfillment of the signs of Christ's Return. So too is the lessening of the prestige of the Churches and the authority of the clergy.

Chinese Aliens Suffer In Changed Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist China, once Indonesia's great friend and ally, has become a symbol of hate here, and the million or so Chinese aliens in this country are feeling the effects.

An officially sponsored anti-Peking line has combined with traditional anti-Chinese sentiments among Indonesia's Moslem people to create an atmosphere of tension for the Chinese.

This situation developed following the 1965 coup d'etat attempt organized by the pro-Peking Indonesian Communist party, PKI. Communist China was accused of having a hand in it.

The coup was smashed by army forces led by Gen. Suharto, now acting president. The collapse of the Red movement triggered a massive anti-Communist campaign throughout Indonesia in which hundreds of thousands were slain. The PKI was destroyed and its remnants were driven underground.

Since then, Chinese aliens, most of whom owe their allegiance to Peking, have become virtually equated with Communists.

Stern regulations limit the activities of Chinese and subject them to special taxation. They have been banned from trading, their chief livelihood, in such outlying areas as Sumatra. In Jakarta they have been denied permanent residence.

Boycott of Chinese goods is being fostered and Chinese-owned shops are liable to closure by the military.

Peking has been linked with the distribution here of pamphlets in Chinese characters, urging local Chinese to resist the Suharto government.

Accounts of Peking's tirades against Suharto's "new order," labeling it reactionary and fascist, are carried by the official news agency Antara and reprinted in newspapers.

Reports of Red Guard extremism, particularly against Chinese Moslems, are used by Moslem groups here to warn against communism.

Diplomatic relations with Peking are close to the snapping point. There are demands from militantly anti-Communist student and Moslem organizations that the last threads be cut.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik has indicated that the ties will continue at least until a settlement has been reached on the question of repatriating Chinese who want to go back to the mainland.

"What do we do with one million Chinese?" Malik has asked. When those Chinese who want to leave finally go, they are not likely to be allowed to take much with them.

One military official commented recently:

"Long ago the Chinese came to Indonesia empty-handed and nobody had invited them to come. They should leave as they came."

St. Kitts, Nevis and Anguilla, three small leeward isles east of the American Virgin Islands, are the first of six British West Indian colonies to gain self-government in 1967. The other five colonies are Antigua, St. Lucia, Dominica, Grenada and St. Vincent.

LBJ's Trip To Germany Quick One

WASHINGTON AP — The White House disclosed Thursday that President Johnson will make a comparatively quick over and back trip to Germany for the funeral Tuesday of the former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

It is known that he would like to confer at some point with the present chancellor, Kurt George Kiesinger, but any other bilateral or larger sessions with Western world leaders are considered highly unlikely.

U.S. officials regard talk of a summit session involving Johnson, Kiesinger, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain as mere speculation that will not pan out, although all the leaders are planning to attend the funeral.

On the basis of present planning, Johnson will leave Washington by plane either late Sunday or early Monday and start back late Tuesday or early Wednesday. Plans for a White House reception for the diplomatic corps at the White House Wednesday evening are still on.

ROMANCE... AND A BENT STRAW

When you're in high school and going steady, two can often live as cheaply as one. But who's thinking of economics?

What is important is that when Karen and Dave want to look into each other's eyes — while sharing a milkshake — something just has to give. Karen's straw, of course!

Through the dreamy days of this budding romance they've been learning that lesson over and over. They know how to adjust to each other's moods ... and cares ... and ambitions ... and hopes.

Have they learned the greater lesson — the one that is taught in our churches, and in those homes where religion is real? Have they learned reverence for the spiritual and moral principles on which the sacred institution of marriage rests?

Fleeting romances can endure for a while on bent straws. But honest, blossoming, maturing love demands of a boy and girl convictions that do not bend.

Editors Told Last Year Bad For Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cause of freedom of information lost ground in the past year, a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors reported Thursday.

An advance was made on "the traditional battlefield against bureaucrats," said ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee, but the gain was more than offset by losses in free press-fair trial controversy.

The setbacks, described in a report addressed to the more than 500 newspaper editors opening ASNE's annual meeting today, were summarized in these terms by the committee headed by J. Edward Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, Phoenix:

"These (losses) resulted from actions by the Supreme Court and the American Bar Association which, intentionally or not, scared a lot of policemen, prosecutors, defense counsel and especially judges into suppressing legitimate news of the criminal process."

One of the major developments, said the committee, was the Supreme Court's ruling that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had been denied a fair trial because of prejudicial pretrial publicity. In a retrial, Sheppard won acquittal.

The other was the issuance of the report of the American Bar Association's Committee on Fair Trial and Free Press. The report recommends blocking newspaper access to some criminal case news and enforcing the restraints with the threat of contempt of court.

The editors' convention will be addressed, before its adjournment Saturday night, by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, and Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Murray's committee offered these further comments on the past year's contacts between press and government:

"President Johnson continues to hurt his image and his credibility by consistently trying to make the news sound or seem better than it is."

"The war has escalated to the accompaniment of an almost unbroken succession of pronouncements that it was going in the opposite direction, or at least that something else was happening."

"Press relations (with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency) were generally satisfactory until the Jan. 27 Apollo tragedy in which three astronauts lost their lives."

NASA's information channels were not equal to the Apollo emergency, the report said. No official word came until 1 hour and 20 minutes after the fire started, and "Although the agency knew within five minutes, it took two hours to learn that all three astronauts were dead."

"NASA information not only was late and sparse, but some of it was deliberately misleading, some of it inaccurate."

"NASA said all three astronauts died in their couches, that all three apparently died instantaneously, and that there had been no communication at the time from the spacecraft — all false."

An officially sponsored anti-Peking line has combined with traditional anti-Chinese sentiments among Indonesia's Moslem people to create an atmosphere of tension for the Chinese.

This situation developed following the 1965 coup d'etat attempt organized by the pro-Peking Indonesian Communist party, PKI. Communist China was accused of having a hand in it.

The coup was smashed by army forces led by Gen. Suharto, now acting president. The collapse of the Red movement triggered a massive anti-Communist campaign throughout Indonesia in which hundreds of thousands were slain. The PKI was destroyed and its remnants were driven underground.

Since then, Chinese aliens, most of whom owe their allegiance to Peking, have become virtually equated with Communists.

Stern regulations limit the activities of Chinese and subject them to special taxation. They have been banned from trading, their chief livelihood, in such outlying areas as Sumatra. In Jakarta they have been denied permanent residence.

Boycott of Chinese goods is being fostered and Chinese-owned shops are liable to closure by the military.

Peking has been linked with the distribution here of pamphlets in Chinese characters, urging local Chinese to resist the Suharto government.

Accounts of Peking's tirades against Suharto's "new order," labeling it reactionary and fascist, are carried by the official news agency Antara and reprinted in newspapers.

Reports of Red Guard extremism, particularly against Chinese Moslems, are used by Moslem groups here to warn against communism.

Diplomatic relations with Peking are close to the snapping point. There are demands from milantly anti-Communist student and Moslem organizations that the last threads be cut.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik has indicated that the ties will continue at least until a settlement has been reached on the question of repatriating Chinese who want to go back to the mainland.

"What do we do with one million Chinese?" Malik has asked. When those Chinese who want to leave finally go, they are not likely to be allowed to take much with them.

One military official commented recently:

"Long ago the Chinese came to Indonesia emptyhanded and nobody had invited them: to come. They should leave as they came."

St. Kitts, Nevis and Anguilla, three small leeward isles east of the American Virgin Islands, are the first of six British West Indian colonies to gain self-government in 1967. The other five colonies are Antigua, St. Lucia, Dominica, Grenada and St. Vincent.

LBJ's Trip To Germany Quick One

WASHINGTON AP — The White House disclosed Thursday that President Johnson will make a comparatively quick over and back trip to Germany for the funeral Tuesday of the former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

It is known that he would like to confer at some point with the present chancellor, Kurt George Kiesinger, but any other bilateral or larger sessions with Western world leaders are considered highly unlikely.

U.S. officials regard talk of a summit session involving Johnson, Kiesinger, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain as mere speculation that will not pan out, although all the leaders are planning to attend the funeral.

On the basis of present planning, Johnson will leave Washington by plane either late Sunday or early Monday and start back late Tuesday or early Wednesday. Plans for a White House reception for the diplomatic corps at the White House Wednesday evening are still on.

ROMANCE.... AND A BENT STRAW

When you're in high school and going steady, two can often live as cheaply as one. But who's thinking of economics?

What is important is that when Karen and Dave want to look into each other's eyes — while sharing a milkshake — something just has to give. Karen's straw, of course!

Through the dreamy days of this budding romance they've been learning that lesson over and over. They know how to adjust to each other's moods . . . and cares . . . and ambitions . . . and hopes.

Have they learned the greater lesson — the one that is taught in our churches, and in those homes where religion is real? Have they learned reverence for the spiritual and moral principles on which the sacred institution of marriage rests?

Fleeting romances can endure for a while on bent straws. But honest, blossoming, maturing love demands of a boy and girl convictions that do not bend.

The Power of Faith

THE EARLY CHURCH MAINTAINS CHRIST'S GOOD WORKS

Scripture—Acts 3.

By R. H. RAMSEY
TODAY'S lesson shows how Christ can manifest His living presence and divine power through those who witness for Him, providing they have a life-and-strength-giving faith and are filled with the Holy Spirit. In it we encounter the first of the many miracles worked by the apostles. Apostolic miracles were necessary to show the divine origin of the church and kingdom, as well as the apostles' authority as divine messengers. Not only did such miracles attract attention and respect, they confirmed the power and blessing which Christ had promised His apostles.

Peter, in himself weak, but strong through the Holy Spirit, was God's instrument in this miracle. The other participant was John.

The place was the Temple, an edifice built by Herod to replace the Temple of Solomon which had been destroyed. The time was the "ninth hour" of prayer, 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The central character of the

"And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive."—Matthew 21:22.

As in the Pentecost sermon, Peter made no attempt to conciliate his hearers. Instead, he charged them with denying the Messiah, of choosing a murderer and robber instead of Jesus. Peter used the strongest terms possible to incriminate them and convict their hearts of sin, in order to show them the way to salvation.

The Christ whom they crucified—out of ignorance and willingness to follow their leaders—is declared to be the Prince of Life, residing in glory. As the prophets predicted, He will return, and in His return will restore all things.

Peter calls upon them to "repent and be converted," and tells them that in order to receive salvation their repentance must be followed by sincere faith in Christ and joyous acceptance of His atoning work.

Like the Pentecost sermon, this one is also marked by an all-pervading spirit of faith. It is a frank appeal to the sin-ridden hearts of his listeners. It is direct testimony to Christ and the resurrection, and to the love and forgiveness of God.

Death Penalty Proposals Stall

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — 11 proposals to end the death penalty in Ohio are marking time in the legislature with the lawmakers indicating they aren't anxious to take on the controversial issue.

The Senate Judiciary Committee conducted a second and apparently final hearing Wednesday on a proposed constitutional resolution which would put the question before voters in the November election.

But the resolution was put aside and no further action scheduled by Chairman Max H. Dennis R-10 Clinton who referred to a bill pending in the House which would accomplish the same thing.

"We probably will hold up on the resolution to see what position the House might take on the bill," Dennis said. The bill,

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP) — The weatherman is toying with the family food bill again.

Rains finally have fallen in the wheat belt. Wheat prices have dropped, easing the threat of higher prices for flour and bread this summer.

Rains also have fallen in California, and there the effects haven't been entirely helpful.

They have kept the bees from pollinating fruit trees, slowed the asparagus cutting, damaged the sweet cherries in San Joaquin Valley, washed away tomato seedlings, and a bit of cheer perhaps for small boys—interrupted the spinach harvest. A freeze caused heavy damage to apricots.

The weatherman also is holding the Florida tomato crop below normal.

As the weather improves, there should be bigger supplies—and lower prices—for fresh fruits and vegetables. The outlook is good for celery, lettuce, snap beans, carrots, sweet corn, green peppers and green onions.

Bananas, apples, grapefruit and oranges are plentiful.

In the meat department, ham and beef prices have dropped again. Big supplies of other meats have helped keep beef prices down. There are much bigger supplies of pork, chickens and turkeys than last year.

Egg prices have dropped another 2 to 4 cents a dozen.

State Welfare's Reorganization Termed 'Empty'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reorganization two years ago of the state's welfare program has turned out to be an "empty promise" for dependent children, a Cleveland lawyer says.

The charge was made Wednesday by attorney William Ginn, who called for higher assistance payments to families of 140,000 youngsters in the Aid to Dependent Children program.

Speaking before 300 persons attending the Ohio Citizens Council for Health and Welfare's annual meeting, Ginn said, that despite reorganization, current state support toward ADC is about 78 per cent of the minimum standard for other programs.

Havana's American Club Is Fading Symbol Now

HAVANA (AP) — On the prado near Old Havana is a fading building where a handful of aging Americans sit in leather chairs waiting for time to pass.

Their solitude is unchallenged by the tread of young British and Canadian diplomats playing squash two floors overhead—or by the rumble of the Cuban army trucks outside.

The scene is the American Club, a hangover from earlier days and a paradox in modern Cuba. It is a sort of symbol of the two kinds of Americans who live in Communist Cuba today: those who support Prime Minister Fidel Castro and those who don't.

Except for the few club members, almost everyone fits the category of supporters.

Exact figures on the number of native-born Americans in Cuba more than eight years after the Castro revolution are difficult to verify here. The best estimate seems to be 100-130.

Any figures are suspect. Some of the Americans no longer consider themselves U.S. citizens. For others, time and their activities have invalidated their passports and clouded their legal status.

The Swiss Embassy, representing U.S. interest in Cuba since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Castro in 1961, has about 1,000 persons registered as Americans. But, an official says, practically all of these are Cuban-Americans waiting for the resumption of the Mexican airlift to New Orleans.

The U.S. State Department, it is believed here, keeps careful check on the Americans remaining in Cuba. At least 95 per cent of them are "revolutionaries," a Western diplomat estimates.

"These people are here because they want to be," he says. "They believe in the revolution and are working for it."

Some have been in Cuba since shortly after Castro came to power.

An American woman who has been here six years works for a government legal division she says is negotiating old U.S. claims against Cuba. Her husband is economics editor of the Communist party paper Granma.

Another works in the English section of Radio Havana, the government voice that beams propaganda overseas in eight languages.

Perhaps the most publicized case involves Robert F. Williams. He fled to Cuba in 1961 after being indicted in his home town of Monroe, N.C., for kidnapping a white couple during a racial disturbance. Once here, he began broadcasting for Radio Havana and continued until mid-1966. Then he was reported in Peking doing the same thing for the Chinese.

Occasionally U.S. citizens drift into Cuba as interim guests. One of these was Philip S. Foner, a history professor at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania — widely quoted in the Cuban press as saying socialism is the only solution for white and Negro workers in the United States.

One case is mentioned by a diplomat who said an American could enter his country if he produced a valid U.S. passport. But, the diplomat added, in view of the American's record here, it seemed unlikely he could get his passport renewed

Pittsburgh Steel Buys Big Block Of Wheeling Stock

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Steel Co. announced Thursday the purchase of a big block of stock in Wheeling Steel Corp. and the election of its president as Wheeling board chairman.

The announcement cleared up mystery surrounding a day-long meeting Wednesday of top executives of both firms. It had been rumored that a merger was in the works.

Pittsburgh Steel, the nation's 14th ranked steel producer, said it had bought for cash 77,353 shares of Wheeling Steel stock at $21.50 net per share.

The stock was purchased from Hunt Foods and Industries, Inc. of Fullerton, Calif., which also sold its remaining 77,353 shares in Wheeling Steel to the C. F. Kettering Family of Dayton, Ohio.

The Red and Black

Senior Track Performers In Red and Black Spotlight

By LOU TOLLIVER and VIVIAN LANMAN

This week the Red and Black Page is honoring the CHS senior track members and their manager under the coaching of James Lint.

They are Ron Bryant, Eric Downing, Tom Fletcher, Ted Herron, Mark Kreiger, Brad Marshall, Terry Martin, Mike Martindill, Larry Payne, Tim Stonerock, Bruce Tigner and John Wills, manager.

Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher, 164 Town St. Tom is in the general course of study and is entered in the shot, put, 440 yard dash and mile relay.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "Nothing but the best! We are also the defending champs who have the greatest coach around!"

Herron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Herron, 457 Watt St. Ted is in the general course of study and is entered in 440 yard relay, mile relay and 880 yard relay. When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "The fastest team in the SCOL."

Kreiger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pheris Kreiger, 380 Cedar Heights Road. He is in the college prep course of study and is entered in the 440 relay, 220 relay, 880 relay and the mile relay.

When asked his opinion he replied, "I believe that we are even better than we were last year. Times have proved this and coach Lint is satisfied. We will win the SCOL again this year."

Martindill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martindill, 330 John St. Mike is in the college prep course of study and is entered in the one mile run.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "We are by far the best team in the league, and we hope to knock Wilmington off that pedestal they seem to be on. The fellows this year are really dedicated and have a lot of pride. I'm glad I have the opportunity to compete with them."

Stonerock, son of Mrs. Lucille Stonerock of E. Franklin St. is enrolled in the college prep course.

Tim's track events are the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 880 yard relay and shot put.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team, he replied: "This track team is very small, but it has determination and good spirit. I do believe we (the track team) will be SCOL champs again this year!"

Marshall, a college prep student, resides on Route 3 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Marshall.

Brad was asked what he thought of CHS track team and he answered: "I think the team has the potential to win the league again this year but it's going to take a lot of work and dedication. Also I think everyone really has the desire to win again this year and I'm sure we'll be successful."

The events which he is entered in are broad jump, 440 yard run, and mile relay. Payne, son of Mrs. Norma Jean Payne, resides at 374½ E. Franklin St., and is enrolled in the college prep course.

Larry's events include the broad jump, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard relay and mile relay.

His opinion of CHS track team is, "My opinion, or anyone's opinion, of defending champions can be nothing but good. Few people realize the amount of work, dedication, suffering, and disappointment that goes into a championship season in any sport. My wish is that the people of Circleville would appreciate this fact and give us at least the same amount of credit for our accomplishments as they do for other sports."

Martin, who lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Martin of 660 Garden Parkway, is also a college prep student. Events which Terry is entered in are 180 yard hurdles, 880 yard relay and broad jump.

When asked for his opinion of CHS's track team, he answered: "I think the track team this year has more potential than those of other years. We'll surprise a few people this year."

"The track team means as much to any member as the time and effort he, himself, puts into it. He can loaf and skip practice, or he can get out and make an effort to improve himself."

"It's up to him when he runs in practice. If there's not a lot of pressure behind him to excel, he has to provide that desire to succeed in his particular event."

Downing resides at 217 N. Pickaway St. with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Downing. He is enrolled in the college prep course. His events include the half mile and mile.

"To me track means not only striving to obtain higher goals and records but also a chance to meet new friends and to make this athletic experience a memorable one," replied Eric when asked his opinion of CHS track team.

Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Bryant, resides at 1053 Mulberry Road, and is in the college prep course. His events include the discus, mile relay, and 880 relay.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied: "We've got the coolest team in the world. It's a small team, but there is a lot of heart among us. We ought to once again be SCOL champs in 1967."

Tigner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tigner, 444 Stella Ave. He is in the general course of study and is entered in the high jump, pole vault, high hurdles and discus.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team, he replied, "The team has great possibilities but lacks the depth it had last year. So for this year it seems to be one of the strongest teams in the league and has high hopes of repeating its victory of last year and remaining league champs."

Wills is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wills, 420 Watt St. He is in the general course of study and manager for the team. As manager, John takes care of the team's equipment.

When asked his opinion of the CHS track team he replied: "I feel Circleville has the hardest working track team in the state. We should successfully defend the league championship this year."

CHS Greet Sonda with Cordial Hello

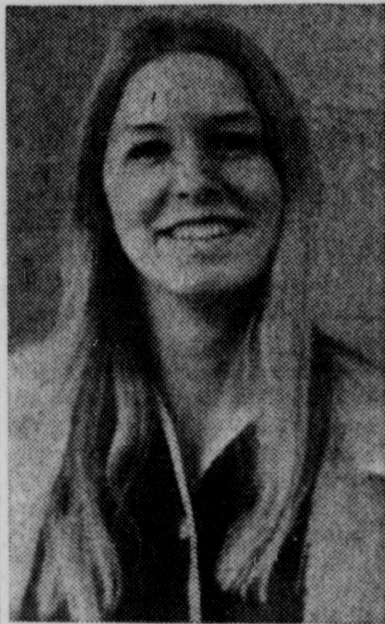

By SANDRA TREGO

That bright new face at CHS is 17-year-old Sonda Willoughby. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willoughby, at 359 Cedar Heights Road.

Sonda and her family moved to Circleville from Phoenix, Ariz., where she attended Camelback High School. She is a senior in the general course and belonged to the Girls League and GAA, at Camelback.

Sonda's hobby is horses. She loves to ride and has a collection of about 40 glass horses.

In fact, her plans after graduation tie in closely with her hobby. She hopes to raise horses and possibly train them. She says she might even try her hand at being a lady jockey.

Sonda likes CHS and its students. "I was born in Circleville, and went to school here until 3rd grade, so I know a few of the kids. The ones I don't know are helpful by being friendly. They seem to understand how it is to be a new student and a stranger."

"As for the school, I really like it. It's different than what I'm used to, but it's new, modern, and seems to be well organized which makes it easier to get around."

Seniors Set For Their Big Musical

By LYNN KIFER

Tonight is the night. Rehearsals are over and everything is "Go" for the Senior class musical "Annie Get Your Gun."

Throughout the week the cast has gone through partial and full dress rehearsals. The costumes committee has been working hard getting the 60 odd members of the cast outfitted for the production.

The actors and actresses themselves have dedicated this week to developing character and acquiring a more professional appearance on the stage.

In the technical areas, problems in lights, sets and properties have been ironed out to insure the smoothness of the show.

The scenery committee has worked right up to the line in order to finish the numerous sets.

Friday night's production, beginning at 8, will feature reserved seats. The Saturday night performance will be general admission.

In Most Fond Memory

By CHRIS BUSKIRK

On Saturday afternoons CHS students used to go downtown to get a coke or eat lunch. Many Circleville residents would do the same.

Bingman's Drug store usually seemed the most convenient place to do this. People were always received there with smiles and friendly greetings. There will be no more cokes, lunches, handholding, and date-making at Bingman's.

The happiness of its presence is gone forever.

Should There Be Student's Day

By JANIE WISE

Should there be a "Student's Day" like there is a Mother's Day" like there is a Father's Day?" That was the question presented to several students at CHS. Here are their replies:

Craig Benzenberg — mother's and father's have a special day set aside for them because they're special people. The students will have their special days when they become mothers and fathers.

Jeannette West — I don't think there should be a Student's Day because I refer every day to that of being one for students. The mother and father should be honored—and this is why we have a day set apart for them.

Joe Winner — mothers and fathers have only one day a year to be honored. Students are honored by their parents every day.

Ellen Zickafoose — I don't think there should be a special day for students because most students haven't done anything to deserve a special day.

Greg Withers — Mother's and Father's Day were originated in order for kids to honor their parents. To me, a Student's Day would be for parents to honor their children, and most parents don't need a special day for this.

Susan Demjen — I don't think a Student's Day should be specially originated because every day is a Student's Day.

Rock Origin Is Explained

By RICHARD THOMAS FOR THE JOURNALISM CLASS

Dr. Ralph Bond, professor of geology at Capital University, presented a science program Thursday on the origin of rocks in the earth's crust.

He explained that the earth's crust is made up of three kinds of rocks: igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic.

Our igneous rocks were the first to be formed. Molten metals erupted in gigantic volcanoes and distributed igneous rock on the earth's surface. When these rocks — basalt, granite and rhyolite — were released, gases and water vapor were also released. As a result, our atmosphere was formed.

Now the weathering process began, and sedimentary rocks, limestone, shale, and sandstone were formed.

The third type, metamorphic or marble and slate, are formed when sedimentary or igneous rocks are heated under great pressure.

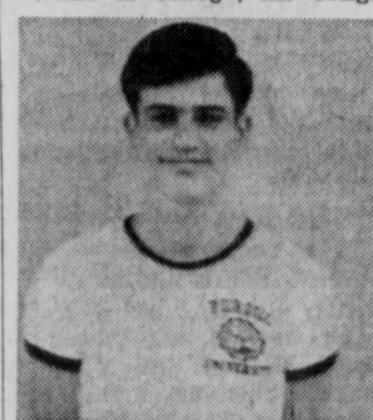

Lindsey Awarded Scholarship

By ANNE JOYCE

Mark Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Lindsey 126 E. Mill St. has been awarded a four year Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps scholarship to Purdue University.

To obtain the scholarship, Mark first had to pass the Navy College Aptitude Test. He then reported to Ft. Hayes Induction Center in Columbus for a complete physical exam and was interviewed by Naval officers. After filling out numerous forms, his name was set to the State Selection Committee where they selected whom they felt to be best suited as an officer in the U. S. Navy.

While in college, his obliga-

Boyer Awarded Academic Grant from S. Carolina

RONALD K. BOYER

Ronald Kelly Boyer, a member of the mathematics department of Circleville Jr. High School, has been awarded a grant in the amount of $3,000 by the University of South Carolina to attend the University's academic year institute for high school teachers of mathematics, according to an announcement by Dr. W. L. Williams, institute director. An allowance is also provided for travel, dependents, and textbooks.

The institute, made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation, will run through the academic year, beginning in September. Its purpose is to provide teachers with an opportunity to improve their subject matter competence, to gain a better understanding of some of the modern and basic concepts of mathematics, to increase their skills as teachers, and to strengthen their ability to inspire their students to choose careers in mathematics.

Dr. Williams stated that approximately 30 applications were received and that Mr. Boyer was one of the thirty applicants who was accepted.

Circleville School Menu

Monday: Hot Bologna Sandwich, Creamed Tomatoes, Buttered Potatoes, Applesauce, Milk.

Tuesday: Chili Con Carne, Cole Slaw, Pineapple Slices, Cornbread, Butter, Milk.

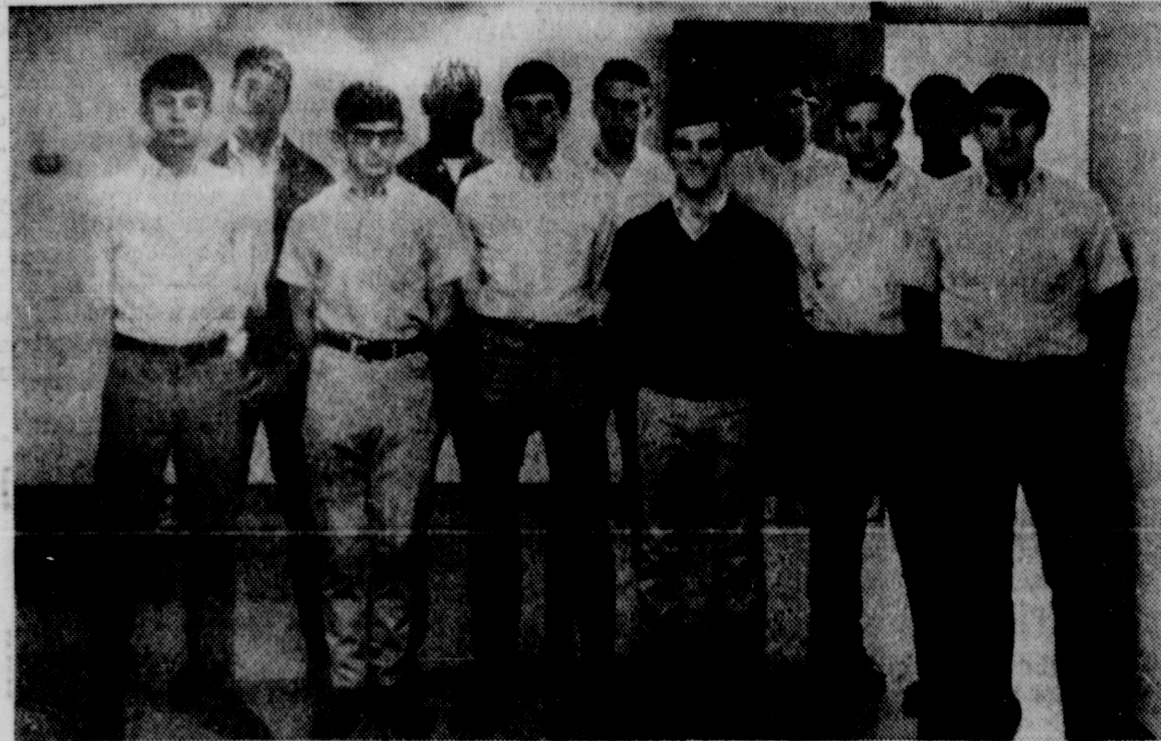

Wednesday: Chicken and Noodles, Buttered Peas, Pear Half, Brownie, Roll, Butter, Milk.

Thursday: Beef or Hamburger Gravy, Mashed Potatoes, Corn, Peach Slices, Oatmeal Cake, Bread, Butter, Milk.

Friday: Fish Sandwich-Tartar Sauce, Green Beans, Citrus Fruit Salad, Cookie, Milk.

The Red and Black

By LOU TOLLIVER
and VIVIAN LANMAN

This week the Red and Black Page is honoring the CHS senior track members and their manager under the coaching of James Lint.

They are Ron Bryant, Eric Downing, Tom Fletcher, Ted Herron, Mark Kreiger, Brad Marshall, Terry Martin, Mike Martindill, Larry Payne, Tim Stonerock, Bruce Tigner and John Wills, manager.

Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher, 164 Town St. Tom is in the general course of study and is entered in the shot put, 440 yard dash and mile relay.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "Nothing but the best! We are also the defending champs who have the greatest coach around!"

Herron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Herron, 457 Watt St. Ted is in the general course of study and is entered in 440 yard relay, mile relay and 880 yard relay. When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "The fastest team in the SCOL."

Kreiger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pheris Kreiger, 380 Cedar Heights Road. He is in the college prep course of study and is entered in the 440 relay, 220 relay, 880 relay and the mile relay.

When asked his opinion he replied, "I believe that we are even better than we were last year. Times have proved this and coach Lint is satisfied. We will win the SCOL again this year."

Martindill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martindill, 330 John St. Mike is in the college prep course of study and is entered in the one mile run.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team he replied, "We are by far the best team in the league, and we hope to knock Wilmington off that pedestal they seem to be on. The fellows this year are really dedicated and have a lot of pride. I'm glad I have the opportunity to compete with them."

Stonerock, son of Mrs. Lucille Stonerock of E. Franklin St. is enrolled in the college prep course.

Tim's track events are the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 880 yard relay and shot put.

When asked his opinion of CHS track team, he replied: "This track team is very small, but it has determination and good spirit. I do believe we (the track team) will be SCOL champs again this year!"

Marshall, a college prep student, resides on Route 3 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Marshall.

Brad was asked what he thought of CHS track team and he answered: "I think the team has the potential to win the league again this year but it's going to take a lot of work and dedication. Also I think every-

CHS Greet Sondra with Cordial Hello

By SANDRA TREGO

That bright new face at CHS is 17-year-old Sondra Willoughby. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willoughby, at 359 Cedar Heights Road.

Sondra and her family moved to Circleville from Phoenix, Ariz., where she attended Camelback High School. She is a senior in the general course and belonged to the Girls League and GAA, at Camelback.

Sondra's hobby is horses. She loves to ride and has a collection of about 40 glass horses.

In fact, her plans after graduation tie in closely with her hobby. She hopes to raise horses and possibly train them. She says she might even try her hand at being a lady jockey.

Sondra likes CHS and its students. "I was born in Circleville, and went to school here until 3rd grade, so I know a few of the kids. The ones I don't know are helpful by being friendly. They seem to understand how it is to be a new student and a stranger."

"As for the school, I really like it. It's different than what I'm used to, but it's new, modern, and seems to be well organized which makes it easier to get around."

Seniors Set For Their Big Musical

By LYNN KIFER

Tonight is the night. Rehearsals are over and everything is "Go" for the Senior class musical "Annie Get Your Gun."

Throughout the week the cast has gone through partial and full dress rehearsals. The costumes committee has been working hard getting the 60 odd members of the cast outfitted for the production.

The actors and actresses themselves have dedicated this week to developing character and acquiring a more professional appearance on the stage.

In the technical areas, problems in lights, sets and properties have been ironed out to insure the smoothness of the show.

The scenery committee has worked right up to the line in order to finish the numerous sets.

Friday night's production, beginning at 8, will feature reserved seats. The Saturday night performance will be general admission.

In Most Fond Memory

By CHRIS BUSKIRK

On Saturday afternoons CHS students used to go downtown to get a coke or eat lunch. Many Circleville residents would do the same.

Bingman's Drug store usually seemed the most convenient place to do this. People were always received there with smiles and friendly greetings. There will be no more cokes, lunches, handholding, and date-making at Bingman's.

The happiness of its presence is gone forever.

Indians Beat Athletics In First 2-0 Shutout

CLEVELAND (AP)— Steve Hargan, in his first start of the season, pitched the Cleveland Indians to their first shutout in beating the Kansas City Athletics 2-0 Thursday night.

The lanky 24-year-old right-hander also became the first Tribe pitcher to go the distance in the young season. He gave up five scattered hits, all singles, struck out three batters and walked three.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Indians, who lost their first two games, and put them in a tie with the New York Yankees for the American League lead.

Manager Joe Adcock said Hargan "pitched a top ball game."

"He had good live stuff," Adcock added. "This is a pitcher on the way up. He should be improving all the time."

Kansas City was tough for me last season, so this was a particularly good game to win," Hargan said.

Hargan, charged with the loss in this season's opener at Kansas City in relief, started out strong this time, facing the minimum of 12 batters in the first four innings.

Ed Charles walked in the second but was forced by Roger Repoz, who was thrown out trying to steal. Ken Suarez singled in the third but was erased in a double play.

Cleveland scored its two runs in the second inning on Fred Whitfield's long double, a walk to Duke Sims, Gus Gil's single and a throwing error by Suarez trying to keep Sims from going to third after Larry Brown struck out. Sims went all the way home on the wild throw.

The A's most serious scoring threat was in the sixth. They had runners on first and second with one out, but Mike Hersherberger hit into a double play.

Low Krause took the loss and is now 0-2.

The Indians open a four-game series against the California Angels tonight. Sam McDowell, seeking his second victory, is scheduled to start for the Indians. He will be opposed by Jack Sanford, who beat the Indians in Anaheim last Friday.

PCC Ladies Begin Season Activities

Jan McKelvey and Miriam Young shot 51s to tie for low gross honors at the Pickaway Country Club Ladies' Spring Roundup.

June Curtin's six 7s won the poker hand event. The low putts award went to Betty Plummer with 13.

Marsha Moore, 1967 chairman, conducted the business meeting which was attended by 52 members.

Other new officers are: Jan McKelvey, co-chairman; Miriam Young, secretary; Mary Lou Schuller, treasurer.

THIS YEAR'S handicap committee is Erma Hedges and Ruth Athey. Mary Lou Sculley and Doris Luna are in charge of the locker room.

Stelle O'Hara and Sue Spire comprise the tournament committee. The rules committee consists of Jean Adams and Elsie Edstrom.

Caroline Champion is in charge of the golf league. The pro, Terry Dilts, will be advisor for the junior golf league.

Mary and Maynard Eaton are chairmen of the mixed events at the club this year.

Starting time for spring play is noon with lunch scheduled at 11 a. m. May 3 is the date for the spring guest luncheon and style show, featuring golf apparel from the pro shop.

Brewer Leads at Dallas With Six-Under-Par 64

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gay Brewer, the Masters champion from Dallas, led the $100,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament with a six-under-par 64 today but he faced a jinx.

There have been 14 tournaments on the PGA tour this year, and in only three of them has the first-round leader emerged winner.

Brewer, however, is playing the best golf of his career and fired his third 64 of the campaign Thursday. He also equaled the record first round in the tournament's history — the 64 shot by John McMullin in the opening round of 1958.

And it also tied the lowest starting round of the year — the 64 Jerry Steelsmith shot at San Diego where he didn't finish in the money.

And there was another angle — McMullin tied for first in the 1958 tournament yet lost in the playoff.

But Brewer could point to the fact that three fellows did lead all the way this year and won — Arnold Palmer, who had a first-round 66 at Tucson; Don Sikes, who had a 67 on his home course at Jacksonville, Fla., and Frank Beard, who fired a 65 in the opening round of the Tournament of Champions.

None of those fellows appear to pose much of a threat to Brewer here. Palmer, the year's leading money-winner who could lose his standing should Brewer win the $20,000 for first place, said he was too weary and was fighting a cold when he soared to a 76.

Sikes isn't playing here and Beard also shot a 76 in the opening round.

The closest men to Brewer as he set out today in the second round were Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., and Kermit Zarley of Seattle, Wash., with 68s.

Reds Win 3-1 Over Dodgers In 13 Innings

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Don Pavletich, a reserve catcher, weighs 211 pounds and isn't what you'd call lightning fast on the bases.

He needed all the help he could get in the 13th inning of the Reds' 3-1 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night.

Pavletich was on first base with a one-out walk when Gerry Arrigo bunted. Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' third pitcher, grabbed the ball, thought about Pavletich lumbering towards second, hesitated just long enough, then wheeled and fired, hoping for the force.

He didn't get it. Pavletich slid in safely, moved to third on a force play and then scored the winning run when Vada Pinson dropped a tantalizing single into short right field. The Reds got an insurance run on Pete Rose's base hit.

Gary Nolan, an 18-year-old right-hander, worked the first nine innings for the Reds and struck out 12 Dodgers.

But Los Angeles pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth on Jim Hickman's pinch double, tying the score at 1-1 and sending the game into extra innings.

It stayed that way until Perranoski hesitated in the 13th.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York battered Chicago 6-1 and San Francisco ended St. Louis' six-game winning streak, 7-5.

In the American League, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 2-0, Detroit nipped California 4-3, and Chicago whacked Washington 8-4. Minnesota and Baltimore were rained out.

Tommy Davis hammered a home run and a double — his first extra-base hits of the season — as the Mets trimmed the Cubs.

Rookie pitcher Tom Seaver, a $40,000 bonus baby, got credit for his first big league victory, with Don Shaw, another rookie, finishing up. Veteran Curt Simmons was the loser.

The Giants bunched five singles in the second inning, scoring five runs, but had to hold off the rallying Cardinals for their victory.

Lou Brock's sixth home run in seven games had given the Cardinals an early lead, but the Giants bounced back with singles by Willie Mays, Jim Hart, Jesus Alou, winning pitcher Bob Bolin and Ken Henderson.

A bases-loaded error by shortstop Dal Maxvill kept the rally going and Henderson's two-run single capped it.

The Cards knocked out Bolin with two runs in the seventh and scored another against reliever Lindy McDaniel in the eighth before Frank Linzy stopped them.

Tiger Track Team Places Second to Chillicothe, 71-56

Circleville's track team lost a dual meet at Chillicothe by 15 points 71-56, Thursday. It was the second meeting between the two schools.

In an earlier meet, the Cavaliers won by a 26 point margin.

In spite of the loss, the Tiger relay teams turned in the best times of the year.

The 880-yard team was second although they ran the distance in 1:35.7. Chillicothe won in 1:33.6. The mile team was second in 3:38.2. The Cavaliers won in 3:35.4.

Winning efforts in the field events included a first by Tom Fletcher in the shot put where he registered a toss of 44 feet and in the discus by Ron Bryant. He threw the discus 125 feet 9 inches.

In the track events, Steve Dade won the high hurdles in 16.3 and Mike Martindill posted a time of 4:46.5 in the mile run.

The next meet for Circleville is Tuesday in a quadrangular event at Washington C. H. Other schools competing in the meet will be Wilmington and Chillicothe.

WHS Thinlies Drop Dual Meet to Trace

Westfall High School thinclads placed second to Miami Trace Thursday in a dual meet, 75-52.

Earning first place finishes for the Mustangs were John Miller with a 5-foot 2-inch effort in the high jump; Larry Keller with a 10-foot 6-inch win in the pole vault; Charlie Long with an 11.1 hundred yard dash; Marty Stanley with a 2:18 time in the 880, and Jim Lett with a 10:54 in the two mile run.

Lett's time in the two miles was a new school record. Running second in the two miles was Billy Upperman.

Miller was second in the long jump. In the high jump, Deny Fletcher placed third.

RON NELSON'S heave of 106 feet three inches was good for second place in the discus and John Cook was third with a throw of 103 feet 8 inches.

Lee Cook was second in the shot with a toss of 38 feet 2 inches. Don Adams was third in the 120-yard high hurdles, crossing the line in 19.8 seconds.

The mile run saw Jim Tomlinson second in 5:03 and Bob Barnes third in 5:15.

Bruce Sykes was second in the 440-yard dash in 54.8. Bob Osterle was third with a time of 55.0. Larry Keller was second in the low hurdles, running the distance in 22.9.

Chris Schein was second in the 880-yard run.

In the 220 yard dash, Bob Osterle was second in 25 and Charlie Long and John Wells tied for third in 25.61.

The Washington Senators opened the baseball season with three first basemen — Bob Chance, Ken Harrelson and Dick Nen.

CHS Golfers Blank Unioto

With five golfers competing, Circleville blanked Unioto, 11-0, in a dual match at the Pickaway Country Club Thursday.

For Circleville, Steve Edstrom shot a 43, Mike Young and Pete Noble carded 42s, Brock Bell shot a 45 and Chuck Plum a 49.

This is the first year the Unioto School has fielded a golf team.

The next match for Circleville comes at Grove City Monday.

Vikings Top FHHS Golfers

The Teays Valley Golf team defeated Franklin Heights, 9-0 in a match that was closer than the final score would indicate.

Each of the Vikings won two points. Ron Leatherwood shot a 40, Mike Binion a 43, Mark Leatherwood a 43 and Bob Welsh a 45.

For Franklin Heights, Bob Long shot a 41, Bill Rees a 44, Vic Swank a 47 and Pete Sis-chop a 48.

The next match for Teays Valley will be with Unioto at Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Tuesday.

Dodgers Really Missed Maury Wills Last Night

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It didn't happen until their seventh game of the season, but the Los Angeles Dodgers missed Maury Wills Thursday night.

Wills, traded to Pittsburgh last winter, became famous here for finding ways of breaking up low-scoring games, especially those that went into extra innings, with scratchy hits and mercurial base running.

His specialty was the kind of game the Dodgers had Thursday, when they went 13 innings before Vada Pinson and Pete Rose of Cincinnati hit run-scoring singles to beat the Dodgers, 3-1.

The Dodgers will miss many things Wills did, but another thing they are sadly lacking is the long ball. They have yet to strike a homer in National League competition this year.

Thursday night the Dodgers had runners on second base or third on eight occasions, but could cash in only once.

They were within one out of losing, 1-0, to an 18-year-old pitcher before Jim Hickman hit a run-scoring pinch double in the ninth inning against rookie Gary Nolan.

Nolan struck out 12 batters. The winner, reliever Gerry Arrigo, fanned five in four innings.

Dodger starter Bob Miller allowed only two hits in seven innings but both came in the fifth when Lee May doubled and scored on a single by Leo Cardenas.

Hickman's game-tying double in the ninth drove in Jim Lefebvre, who had singled.

The Reds won the game in the 13th after Don Pavletich drew a walk off loser Ron Perranoski. Arrigo bunted back to the mound but Perranoski's throw to second was too late. Tommy Harper grounded into a forceout, putting runners at first and third with two out. But Pinson broke the tie with a bloop single and Rose followed with a hit to drive in an insurance run.

Deron Johnson, Cincinnati's slugging third baseman, missed the game after having a corn removed from between two toes.

The Reds, having salvaged one of three games here, move into Houston's Astrodome tonight trailing league-leading St. Louis by just one game, Billy McCool opposes Astro southpaw Mike Cuellar.

First baseman Orlando Cepeda hit .373 in day games for the St. Louis Cardinals last season but only .258 at night.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to thank all of my neighbors and friends for their kind and generous contributions to the fund for the new fire station. The fund was completed on time and the new fire station is now open for business. I am very grateful for the help and support of everyone who contributed to the fund. I am sure that the new fire station will be a great asset to the community.

NBA-ABA Battle Finally Erupts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The anticipated war for players between the established National Basketball Association and the emerging American Basketball Association has erupted with legal battles on two fronts.

The Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA took action Thursday, filing a $3,050,000 damage suit against the ABA and Laker forward Jim (Bad News) Barnes, who said earlier he signed with the Dallas Chaparrals of the newly formed league.

NBA President Walter Kennedy said the Baltimore Bullets have begun legal action against the ABA, its New York franchise and player Leroy Ellis, who signed with the New York club last week.

"Each of the owners has advised me," said Kennedy, "that they intend to pursue the matter of players breaching contracts through the proper legal channels."

Thus, a full-scale conflict appears likely because many ABA owners feel there isn't enough talent outside the NBA to stock a productive professional league.

The Lakers' suit, filed by owner Jack Kent Cooke's California Sports Inc., said the ABA carried on its negotiations with Barnes and other players in a "deliberate, malicious, wanton, reckless and unjustifiable manner."

And the suit sought to enjoin Barnes from playing with the Dallas team.

Cooke was unavailable for comment, but Dallas operations manager Max Williams said in Dallas that he didn't think Los Angeles could sue Barnes for breach of contract.

"His contract with the Los Angeles Lakers has until Oct. 1 to run," said Williams. "We don't care if Los Angeles wants to play him until Oct. 1 because our contract isn't effective until that time. It seems to me the Lakers haven't investigated this very thoroughly."

NEW YORK (AP) — The question about which twin had the Tony — Tony Randall that is — was purely coincidental Thursday night in a tired little stab at British comedy called "The Wide Open Door" on ABC.

The program obviously was designed to match the mood of the famous old film comedy, "The Lavender Hill Mob" and was even written by the same man, T.E.B. Clarke. But it just never came off.

In the first place, there were just too many ingredients, all of them confusing. The result was an enormous amount of scurrying around by a large cast trying to touch all bases, but there was a marked shortage of humor.

Worst part was the confusion. First there was Honor Blackman playing twins, one dumb and one bright but both members of a mob attempting a bank robbery. Then there was Tony Randall playing a mustached Scotland Yard sleuth and also his double, a slick crook who assumed the detective's identity and a false mustache to pull off his evil deed.

Most of the time the viewer did not know which was the sleuth and which the crook and what was worse, didn't really care. Anyway the bad guys were caught in the end and it must be said the whole thing was accomplished without shooting, fistfights — or laugh track.

The 90-minute program was one in the "Stage 67" series. Actone in the "Stage 67" series. NBC and Johnny Carson, after long negotiations, patched up their differences and the performer will return to his "Tonight Show" Monday after a three week absence.

DRESS REHEARSAL — These members of the Circleville High School Senior Class are all set for tonight's first production of the musical "Annie Get Your Gun" in the CHS Auditorium. Another performance, with tickets available at the door, will be presented Saturday night. Curtain time is at 8 both evenings.

When Disaster Strikes

Berger Responded Quickly In Assuming Prominent Role

EDITOR'S NOTE — Berger Hospital, its routine suddenly interrupted last Saturday, quickly found itself playing a prominent role in the downtown explosion disaster. This story serves as a review and evaluation of the impact the tragedy had on Berger. The analysis is based on comments of those who were at the hospital and others directly connected with its functioning.

When disaster strikes — fire, tornado, hurricane, earthquake, industrial or transportation accident and bombing—a hospital is the chief resource for ministering to the injured.

Hospitals are less prepared to cope with major disasters on weekends. But when the catastrophe occurred here Saturday, Berger Hospital, its medical staff and full personnel responded in a valiant manner.

Almost within minutes, 27 nurses reported for duty—some in slacks, others in house dresses. But they arrived in a hurry, several of whom had not worked for years.

Seven doctors appeared at the hospital before the first casualty arrived. Two others were busy at the blast scene.

LABORATORY and X-ray technicians, dietary workers and administrative people not on duty lost no time in getting to their posts.

Adequate medical supplies were on hand and the original 17 injured were quickly and expertly treated. People suffering from delayed shock continued to drift into the emergency room throughout the next day and night.

The latecomers received proper treatment and medication and were sent home relieved of their anxieties and fears.

In commenting on these recent events, Berger Administrator Charles B. Beard said: "I believe the medical staff, hospital personnel and volunteer nurses performed in a highly professional manner and worked together as a well-integrated health team."

Beard hastened to explain that sad and lamentable as the tragedy is, it served to bring into bright focus the hospital's pressing need for an expanded and enlarged emergency room, X-ray and clinical laboratory facilities. He urged the community to help Berger's Board of Trustees to bring this about.

The administrator further declared that the general public now recognizes Berger as a well-staffed and equipped general hospital long past the so-called "first aid station" era.

THE HOSPITAL'S governing board this week adopted a resolution to publicly thank and commend "all members of the medical profession who responded so nobly, the hospital personnel for performing as faithful workers and the volunteer nurses who dropped what they were doing to answer a call from the injured."

Similar praise was extended to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, the Circleville Police Department and the General Telephone Co. for their support and understanding during the almost unbelievable days and nights that followed the bombing.

Ohio Legislature

First Hurdle Cleared On Fireworks Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An emergency measure outlawing fireworks peddlers whose biggest business comes in the weeks before the July 4 holiday has cleared its first hurdle in the Ohio legislature.

But the measure, recommended for passage Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, is considerably weaker than when introduced by Sen. Howard C. Cook R-1 Toledo, Lucas.

The bill was reported out of committee as the lawmakers completed brief floor sessions and headed home for the weekend. Both houses return at 8 p.m. Monday.

Fifteen new bills were introduced in the two chambers, bringing the total for the session to 970. Less than two dozen have become law.

New proposals would increase from 4 to 7 per cent of salary the membership contributions to the state police and firemen's pension fund, boost manpower of the Ohio Highway Patrol from 850 to 1,000, and provide teachers with lump sum severance pay upon retirement based on one-half of 1 per cent of their annual salary times the number of years served.

The fireworks bill, which would ban sale of fireworks at wholesale and retail, resulted from heavy traffic in cherry bombs, skyrockets, and other items in the Toledo area and other places bordering Michigan, Indiana and other states which now have a total ban.

Present law prohibits retail sale but places no restrictions on wholesale operators who can sell to anyone they please. Cook said roadside stands, trailers and shacks spring up each summer to accommodate customers.

When the bill was reported out of committee, one of its main provisions had been stricken. It would have outlawed possession of fireworks, making it necessary to catch dealers in an actual sale.

Another amendment set up a system for licensing dealers and still another excluded sparklers from the ban. Fireworks still would be available for civic and other displays but could be purchased only with a permit.

The bill carries a maximum penalty of a $50-$10,000 fine for illegal sale or exchange and a fine of $25-$500 for illegal discharge.

Among bills introduced in the House were proposals to:

— Require independent candidates for the legislature to obtain signatures from 7 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election.

— Specifically prohibit forced entry into coin boxes of vending machines, public telephones and parking meters.

New Senate bills would:

— Require Board of Regents' approval for technical education degree programs.

— Permit the state and all its political subdivisions to pay all or part of the cost of group insurance for employees.

DRESS REHEARSAL — These members of the Circleville High School Senior Class are all set for tonight's first production of the musical "Annie Get Your Gun" in the CHS Auditorium. Another performance, with tickets available at the door, will be presented Saturday night. Curtain time is at 8 both evenings.

When Disaster Strikes

Berger Responded Quickly In Assuming Prominent Role

EDITOR'S NOTE — Berger Hospital, its routine suddenly interrupted last Saturday, quickly found itself playing a prominent role in the downtown explosion disaster. This story serves as a review and evaluation of the impact the tragedy had on Berger. The analysis is based on comments of those who were at the hospital and others directly connected with its functioning.

When disaster strikes — fire, tornado, hurricane, earthquake, industrial or transportation accident and bombing—a hospital is the chief resource for ministering to the injured.

Hospitals are less prepared to cope with major disasters on weekends. But when the catastrophe occurred here Saturday, Berger Hospital, its medical staff and full personnel responded in a valiant manner.

Almost within minutes, 27 nurses reported for duty—some in slacks, others in house dresses. But they arrived in a hurry, several of whom had not worked for years.

Seven doctors appeared at the hospital before the first casually arrived. Two others were busy at the blast scene.

LABORATORY and X-ray technicians, dietary workers and administrative people not on duty lost no time in getting to their posts.

Adequate medical supplies were on hand and the original 17 injured were quickly and expertly treated. People suffering from delayed shock continued to drift into the emergency room throughout the next day and night.

The latecomers received proper treatment and medication and were sent home relieved of their anxieties and fears.

In commenting on these recent events, Berger Administrator Charles B. Beard said: "I believe the medical staff, hospital personnel and volunteer nurses performed in a highly professional manner and worked together as a well-integrated health team."

Beard hastened to explain that sad and lamentable as the tragedy is, it served to bring into bright focus the hospital's pressing need for an expanded and enlarged emergency room, X-ray and clinical laboratory facilities. He urged the community to help Berger's Board of Trustees to bring this about.

The administrator further declared that the general public now recognizes Berger as a well-staffed and equipped general hospital long past the so-called "first aid station" era.

THE HOSPITAL'S governing board this week adopted a resolution to publicly thank and commend "all members of the medical profession who responded so nobly, the hospital personnel for performing as faithful workers and the volunteer nurses who dropped what they were doing to answer a call from the injured."

Similar praise was extended to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, the Circleville Police Department and the General Telephone Co. for their support and understanding during the almost unbelievable days and nights that followed the bombing.

Ohio Legislature

First Hurdle Cleared On Fireworks Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An emergency measure outlawing fireworks peddlers whose 'biggest business comes in the weeks before the July 4 holiday has cleared its first hurdle in the Ohio legislature.

But the measure, recommended for passage Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, is considerably weaker than when introduced by Sen. Howard C. Cook R-1 Toledo, Lucas.

The bill was reported out of committee as the lawmakers completed brief floor sessions and headed home for the weekend. Both houses return at 8 p.m. Monday.

Fifteen new bills were introduced in the two chambers, bringing the total for the session to 970. Less than two dozen have become law.

New proposals would increase from 4 to 7 per cent of salary the membership contributions to the state police and firemen's pension fund, boost manpower of the Ohio Highway Patrol from 850 to 1,000, and provide teachers with lump sum severance pay upon retirement based on one-half of 1 per cent of their annual salary times the number of years served.

The fireworks bill, which would ban sale of fireworks at wholesale and retail, resulted from heavy traffic in cherry bombs, skyrockets, and other items in the Toledo area and other places bordering Michigan, Indiana and other states which now have a total ban.

Present law prohibits retail sale but places no restrictions on wholesale operators who can sell to anyone they please. Cook said roadside stands, trailers and shacks spring up each summer to accommodate customers.

When the bill was reported out of committee, one of its main provisions had been stricken. It would have outlawed possession of fireworks, making it necessary to catch dealers in an actual sale.

Another amendment set up a system for licensing dealers and still another excluded sparklers from the ban. Fireworks still would be available for civic and other displays but could be purchased only with a permit.

The bill carries a maximum penalty of a $50-$10,000 fine for illegal sale or exchange and a fine of $25-$500 for illegal discharge.

Among bills introduced in the House were proposals to:

— Require independent candidates for the legislature to obtain signatures from 7 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the last gubernatorial election.

— Specifically prohibit forced entry into coin boxes of vending machines, public telephones and parking meters.

New Senate bills would:

— Require Board of Regents' approval for technical education degree programs.

— Permit the state and all its political subdivisions to pay all or part of the cost of group insurance for employees.

New Study Shows Effect Alcohol Has on Liver

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence that alcohol can produce direct damage to the liver, even in the presence of a well-balanced diet was reported today in two New York studies.

The question of whether liver damage results from alcohol or the poor eating habits of alcoholics has been debated in medical circles for years.

A panel of experts at the annual convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology indicated both factors play a role. They agreed that minor liver damage in alcoholics can be cured if the subjects abstain from liquor and eat foods high in proteins and vitamins.

Dr. Emanuel Rubin, a pathologist at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York City, said evidence of fatty deposits in cells was detected in studies of slivers of liver samples under the electron microscope.

He said the first cell samples were removed by needle biopsy from the livers of volunteer alcoholics who had abstained from drinking for three to four months and had normal livers at the time.

Next, the volunteers were given alcohol, along with a high protein and high vitamin diet, in increasing daily amounts over an 18-day period. The alcohol ingested ranged from 7 ounces of whisky the first day to 16 ounces the final day.

"Fatty changes in the liver cells were confirmed by electron microscope studies in the seventh day after the whisky diet was started," Rubin said in an interview and in his paper.

"We concluded that nutritional factors could not prevent the toxic action of alcohol," he added.

Similar findings of direct liver damage from alcohol were reported by Dr. C. S. Lieber of New York's Bellevue Hospital.

"Our studies of the mechanism of the production of fatty deposits in the liver have shown that even in the presence of a proper, balanced diet, alcohol can cause direct changes in the liver."

He said these fatty deposits — which in progressive states lead to fatal cirrhosis of the liver — come from the drinker's diet and are manufactured by the liver itself.

Dr. C. M. Leevy of the New Jersey College of Medicine said, "We say alcohol will damage the liver but an adequate vitamin and protein intake will repair the damage."
